•Polaris Blast Rains Debris On Test Area

Sleek Rocket Goes Astray During Trial

Rocket Blown Apart High Over Canaveral But No One Injured

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A lightning-fast Navy Polaris test rocket was blown apart high over the Cape Wednesday, raining flaming debris back on the launching area.

The sleek rocket was deliberately destroyed by a range safety officer when it strayed off course and appeared to be heading down the coast instead of out to sea. No one was hurt.

The missile broke into two sections at about 50,000 feet. They traced twisting trails of white smoke against the sky as they plunged back to earth.

The larger chunk hit like a bomb only a few yards from the Polaris launching pad. It's fiery return caused a violent explosion that blasted white flames and mushrooming brown smoke high in the air.

Other Section Falls In River

The second section plunged into the Banana River some five miles south of the launching site, splashing a huge spray of mud and water. Banana River is a tidewater inlet separating the Cape from the Florida mainland.

It was the first time, as far as known, that a missile explosion had threatened a populated area outside the world's largest missile test center. The Cape was opened in 1950.

It was learned the trouble was caused by a defective programmer, a tiny electrical device inside the missile that directs the flight's control.

The first indication of danger came when the Polaris test announcer blared over a loudspeaker: "All personnel on the Cape take cover, take cover."

Woman Sees Section Hit

The latest Polaris test vehicle, a new model called the AX1 was being fired for the first time. The trim 25-foot Lockheed rocket reportedly is very similar to the final Polaris configuration.

The Polaris is an intermediate range—1,500-mile — ballistic missile being developed for launching from nuclear-powered submarines.

The shattered section that hit the river landed some 300 yards from the home of Jack Moline in Cocoa Beach.

Mrs. Moline, at home with her 9-month-old baby, said "I heard the missile screaming and saw it flaming as it came down."

"I ran to the back of the house, and then I saw it hit the water with a dull thud," she added. "I never was so frightened in my life."

Sabotage Suspected In Cuba Airport Fire

HAVANA (UPI) —Fire destroyed the administration building of Havana's Rancho Boyeros International Airport Wednesday, closing the field to international traffic. Authorities said sabotage might have been responsible.

Police reported the blaze started in a store room when a case of motion picture film was opened. However, the speed with which the flames spread to the entire structure appeared to indicate that sabotage was involved, they said.

The fire broke out as forces of rebel leader Fidel Castro were reported to be spreading through Cuba from Oriente Province and causing violence in many areas.

NAACP Seeks To Balk Faubus

Court Is Asked To Block Private School Scheme

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People moved Wednesday to block Little Rock's private school plan as scattered violence between Negroes and whites broke out in this racially tense city.

Wiley A. Branton of Pine Bluff, Ark., Negro attorney for the NAACP, filed a petition in U.S. District Court asking that the Little Rock School Board be enjoined from leasing school properties to a private corporation.

The petition asked further that such private schools, if they are opened, be required to admit Negro students under the integration plan previously in effect at Central High School.

Hearings Thursday

The school board has asked the court whether it may lease its facilities to a private corporation without being held in contempt.

U.S. Dist. Judge John E. Miller will hear pleas on both the school board and the NAACP petitions Thursday at Fort Smith, Ark.

There were three reported incidents of Negro - white violence Wednesday in the city and its environs.

A group of 15 Negro youths and six white boys battled near a white junior high school. Three of the whites suffered injuries. Witnesses said the Negros hit the white boys repeatedly with cleated athletic shoes and kicked one when he fell.

Manhunt Called Off

Sheriff's deputies organized a manhunt for an armed Negro youth accused of beating and choking a white woman in her residence. The youth fled to a wooded area and shortly thereafter the deputies called off their hunt because they said they knew him and would arrest him later. The incident apparently was not related to the school integration tension.

A 14-year-old white boy, Don Weir, reported he was beaten Tuesday night by a 16-year-old Negro who also threatened him with a knife. Juvenile authorities took custody of the Negro.

A flurry of exitement developed in adjoining North Little Rock when an unidentified Negro girl accused a white boy of throwing a firecracker at her near the all-white high school. Officers invesigated but took no action.

New Strikes Hit Auto Industry; Talks Bog Down

DETROIT (AP) — A wave of walkouts across the country crippled auto production Wednesday as contract negotiations bogged down anew.

More than 71,000 were idled — about 32,000 in General Motors plants; 18,000 in Ford, and 21,000 in Chrysler.

The United Auto Workers Union blamed the unauthorized strikes on what it said was refusal of the companies to negotiate local grievances. But General Motors repeated a claim that UAW leaders in Detroit are dictating strikes to bring pressure in contract bargaining.

UAW President Walter Reuther, said he plans to move personally into negotiations with General Motors, the largest of the Big Three auto makers, on Friday.

GM, less than a week away from a Tuesday strike deadline, became the UAW's prime target when negotiations at Chrysler collasped Wednesday.

Reuther walked out of the Chrysler talks at dawn and said the company and the union were too far apart on too many issues to warrant continuing their marathon session.

The negotiating teams that have been on the job the past six months are scheduled to resume their talks at Chrysler without Reuther.

Reuther will meet with the union's National Ford Council. The meeting was called for approval of a Ford agreement. Ford came to terms on a three-year contract for its 9,000 employes a week ago in the early hours of a strike.

Both GM and Chrysler are under threat of a general strike but only GM is racing against a deadline. Reuther has authorization to set a strike date against Chrysler at any time. GM has about 250,000 employes and Chrysler about 70,000.

At GM, union and company negotiators continued to mark time by discussing technical language in a company proposal, obviously awaiting the arrival of Reuther to deal with major differences.

Formosa Crisis Aired Informally

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —High-level talks on the Formosa crisis took place informally Wednesday amid predictions that it would be tossed into the U.N. General Assembly within two weeks.

A luncheon given by Austrian Foreign Minister Leopold Figl brought together U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, British Minister of State Allan Noble, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and Secretary General Dag Hammarksjold.

Prince Wan Waithayakon, Tahiland's foreign minister and former Assembly president, said in a radio interview that Hammarskjold would be given a key role in a Formosan settlement.

He predicted Hammarskjold would be asked to go to Peiping.

Adams' Successor Not Apt To Inherit His Vast Power

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Political experts said Wednesday that Sherman Adams' successor probably would not inherit the vast power that President Eisenhower vested in his chief assistant.

Adams was on the job as usual Wednesday preparing for the orderly transfer of his duties. But White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said there was no word yet on a successor.

Political experts believed that the man who got the job would get Adams' title as "assistant to the President" but not the encompassing authority that Eisenhower gave the man he called his "chief of staff."

No single individual was expected to succeed to the "yes or no" powers of Adams or the finality of his influence over appointive federal jobs.

Adams, meanwhile, performed what for him was an unusual duty. With the President at his side, he administered the oath of office to Dr. Malcolm C. Moos, political science professor at Johns Hopkins University, who became the President's chief speech writer.

Normally, the oath for a new staff member is administered by Frank K. Sanderson, White House administrative officer.

Adams announced his resignation Monday in the face of heavy political pressure following disclosure of his relationship with Boston millionaire Bernard Goldfine.

Political experts said the position Adams gave up was unique, not in title but in personal relationship.

Adams' power in the field of political patronage was virtually unsurpassed in modern times. If he didn't approve, the prospect didn't get the job.

Nationalists Bag 10 MIGs In Air Battle

Reds' Plan To Lure Chiang Pilots Over Mainland Backfires

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Nationalist China's veteran fighter pilots shot down 10 Communist Chinese MIGs and possibly six others Wednesday in one of the biggest air battles of the jet age, the Defense Ministry reported.

Adm. Liu Hon-tu, the Nationalist military spokesman, said 32 Nationalist Sabre Jets and more than 100 Russian-made MIG17s tangled in the blazing 10-minute fight that ranged more than 400 miles alor the Formosa Strait.

A Red plan to lure the Nationalists over the mainland backfired, he said. All of the Sabres and their American-trained and equipped pilots returned safely.

25 MIGs Bagged In Month

The victory ran the Nationalists' string of claimed air kills to 25 MIGs shot down and six probables without loss of a Nationalist plane since the Quemoy hostilities erupted Aug. 23.

The Nationalists at first said 11 Red planes were shot down Wednesday but later they revised the figure to 10.

Liu told a news conference swarms of the red-starred Communist fighters suddenly swept down at 10:40 a.m. on patrolling Nationalist Sabres and tried to cut off their retreat toward Formosa.

"They tried to force our planes over the mainland," he said. "It was an obvious attempt to manufacture evidence for their claim that the United States and we are responsible for the tension (in the Formosa Strait)."

Sabres Upset Red Plans

The spokesman explained that the Red fighters "tried to force our planes to the west by providing an easier exit in hope of shooting one or more down over the mainland. If they had succeeded they would have claimed they were attacking the mainland."

Instead of fleeing to the west, the Sabres roared into the Red formation with their guns blazing, Liu said.

(Peiping radio claimed the Red Chinese air force shot down one Nationalist fighter and damaged one. The location was given as over Fukien Province opposite the Nationalist offshore islands. Nothing was said about Communist losses.

Crazed Father Kills 4 Children

SPARTA, Mich. (UPI)—A drink-crazed father blew off the heads of his four youngest children early Wednesday in a rage over a separation suit filed by his wife.

He also beat his wife, tried to kill a fifth child and set fire to their filthy, debris-littered farm home.

Then he fled in the family automobile with the intention of killing himself. Police found him dazed and semi-conscious with the shell he had saved for himself still in one of the two shotguns he used on his rampage.

"They are better off dead than living in that rat's nest," Orland McMillan, unemployed factory worker, mumbled to police.

The dead children were Ronald William, 7; Bonnie Jane, 6; Richard, 22 months, and Michele Yvonne, 10 months.

Only McMillan's 36 - year - old wife, Edith, and 8-year-old son, Orland Jr., survived. Mrs. McMillan was at a neighbor's calling police when the four smaller children were killed. Orland said he survived a beating administered by his father and then "played dead."

Probers Take Note Of TV Quiz Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Investigating congressmen said Wednesday they may recommend legislation to help the Federal Communications Commission deal with any fraud in television quiz shows.

The subject came up incidentally at hearings by the special House subcommittee investigating the FCC and other federal regulatory agencies.

Afterward, Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) told reporters the subcommittee has no formal investigation planned, but it is in touch with the New York district attorney's office now investigating charges that some quiz shows were fixed.

Integration Issue Ducked By Governors

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Southern governors ducked the school integration issue Wednesday, closing their 24th annual conference without adopting any resolutions on the subject.

A governor who asked not to be identified said: "The feeling behind the scenes was that it would be better not to discuss any of the various resolutions on this. Because of the widely varying views of the governors, we felt it would do more harm than good to have an open fight."

The executive session which ended the three-day conference was closed to reporters.

A resolution proposed by Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland was killed in the Resolutions Committee, the governors said.

It would have called for the governors to take a stand in support of integration in the South.

They would not say how many votes were cast against McKeldin's resolution.

Wage Dispute Hurts BOAC In Jet Race

LONDON (UPI)—A wage dispute threatened Wednesday to kill the hopes of the British Overseas Airways Corp. of beating Pan American World Airways in the race to open transatlantic jet passenger service.

BOAC engineers served notice they would not work overtime until the wage dispute was settled.

A BOAC spokesman said that until the announcement the company had hoped to launch its jet service with De Havilland Comet IVs on Oct. 21, five days before Pan American was scheduled to start service between New York and Paris and Rome.

Roadblock Set Up For Practice Catches Fugitive

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Oakland County sheriff's deputies nabbed a man while just practicing setting up roadblocks.

A motorist parked his car and walked up to a practice roadblock, saying he wanted to surrender. The man, William E. Robinette, 38, said he thought the roadblock was for him.

Surprised deputies checked. Robinette was wanted on an assault and battery warrant gotten by his wife.

Meyer Named Archbishop Of Chicago

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Archbishop Albert G. Meyer of Milwaukee, a 55-year-old administrator whose natural bent is toward scholarship, was named Wednesday to head the Chicago Roman Catholic archdiocese, America's largest.

The tall, ascetic-looking prelate succeeds the late Samuel Cardinal Stritch, who held the Milwaukee post earlier.

In his new post, Archbishop Meyer will be spiritual director to 1,982,030 Catholics.

Archbishop Amleto Giovanni Cicognani, apostolic delegate to the United States, made the announcement in Washington of the appointment by Pope Pius XII.

Archbishop Meyer was in Baltimore where he was co-consecrator at the elevation of Msgr. Michael Hyle to be coadjutor bishop of Wilmington, Del.

In a statement issued through his chancery office in Milwaukee, Archbishop Meyer said he received the news of his appointment "with feelings of profound humility and reverential gratitude."

Helene Grows Into Hurricane Off Fla. Coast

MIAMI (UPI) — Tropical storm Helene developed Wednesday into a full-fledged hurricane with 80-mile-an-hour winds. The Weather Bureau said it might threaten the U.S. Atlantic Coast.

At 5 p.m. E.S.T. the hurricane's center was located about 425 miles east of Fort Pierce, Fla., at latitude 27.4 north, longitude 73.4 west.

The Weather Bureau said the storm had been moving on a varying track between west and northwest at about 14 miles per hour.

"In view of the storm's continued movement toward the South Atlantic Coast and no strong indication as yet of any material change in direction, interests in this area should keep in touch with all future advisories and bulletins," the Weather Bureau said.

Meanwhile, the season's ninth tropical storm, Ilsa, boiled up 700 miles east of San Juan, Puerto Rico, late Wednesday with highest winds estimated at 45 miles an hour. It was moving west-northwest at about 16 miles per hour.

Hurricane Helene was slowly increasing in size and intensity as it skirted the Florida coastline, forecasters reported.

The 5 p.m. advisory said winds of 70 to 80 miles per hour fanned outward for 100 miles northeast of the center and 40 miles in other directions. Gales extended 200 miles in the northeast semicircle and 110 miles to the southwest.

"Shipping in the path of hurricane Helen should exercise caution and small craft along the South Atlantic Coast should not venture far from protected places," the advisory said.

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Vice President Chen Cheng said Wednesday the Communist blockade of Quemoy has been broken.

He told more than 200 government officials attending a planning meeting that Red China's effort to strangle the Nationalist outpost has failed.

Chehab Uses Tanks, Troops To Halt Strife

Lebanon President Names Ex-Insurgent Leader As Premier

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Lebanon's new President Gen. Fuad Chehab stopped a deadly outburst of civil warfare here Wednesday with heavy tanks and troops. Wednesday night he named a former rebel leader as his premier.

Nineteen were killed in the day's communal fighting between Christians and Moslems.

The new premier who will head the government under the iron - fisted chief of state is 37-year-old Rashid Karami.

Karami immediately announced a seven-man cabinet would run the government. It includes three former opposition leaders and four so-called neutrals.

The first job will be to try for peace between the two big religious communities.

Scores were reported injured in wild flurries of shooting, bombing and car burning.

Lebanese forces had orders to shoot to kill in a decisive show of armed strength on Chehab's first full day in office.

U. S. Troops Take Positions

U.S. troops were rolled out between clashing Christian and Moslem factions in the hopeful role of peacemakers and to protect American residents.

The rebellion-torn nation is about half Christian, half ...

Chehab is officially Christian but there is also some Moslem background in his family. He took office Tuesday as the newly elected president succeeding Camille Chamoun, a Christian.

The gun fights developed generally between Moslems pouring out of their Basta quarter in celebration of Chehab's inauguration and Christian Falangists who support Chamoun and are resentful over his retirement under rebel drumfire.

American troops took up positions between battling factors in the port area and were spotted around the airport and in the residential section where Americans live.

There were no reports that any American forces took part in any shooting.

Antisniper Patrols

The 1,000 resident U.S. nationals were told to stay inside their homes. Chehab ordered antisniper patrols to shoot down anyone illegally carrying weapons and backed it up with a daylight curfew extending to dusk. The clampdown brought an end to the fighting in four hours.

It was the most drastic action taken by the government since the outbreak of revolt against the Chamoun regime last May.

The Christian Falangists opened Wednesday's fighting. Anti-Chamoun Moslems, who occupy the heavily fortified Basta quarter near the center of the capital, had been blamed for rioting and sniping attacks earlier this year.

Soviets Return Fliers' Bodies

ISTANBUL, Turkey (UPI)—The bodies of six U. S. airmen whose unarmed transport crashed in Soviet Armenia earlier this month were turned over to the United States at a Soviet border town Wednesday.

There still was no word on the fate of 11 other crewmen aboard the plane. The U. S. State Department has charged Soviet interceptors forced the plane over Soviet Armenia where it crashed.

U. S. Air Attache Col. John S. Cahisant and Gov. Hilmi Dagcioglu of the Turkish province of Kars accepted the bodies at Leninakan, on Turkey's border with Soviet Armenia, and took them to Kars, about 45 miles inside Turkey.

The Russian officials said they had not seen the plane's other 11 crewmen, who have been the subject of repeated notes between the U. S. State Department and the Kremlin. The officials said they had no information and knew only about the six bodies they returned Wednesday.

Cahisant stayed in the Russian town for about an hour before leaving for Kars with the bodies, each in an individual coffin.

At Kars, the U. S. Air Force had a transport plane waiting to fly the bodies to Adana, Turkey.

"Bored" Schoolgirl Admits Killing Her Brother And Planning To Slay Parents

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A blonde teen-age girl, described as a brilliant high school senior, admitted killing her brother Tuesday and planning to kill her parents because nothing exciting ever happened around their suburban home.

"I wasn't mad at anybody," Diana Day Humphries, 16, said in a written statement to police.

The statement detailed how she shot her brother, Robert D. Humphries Jr., 14, to death, Tuesday but backed out on plans to kill her parents when she saw her mother, Mrs. R. D. Humphries, an airlines clerk, approach the house.

Diana is being held without charge. Juvenile authorities said she will be given psychiatric tests.

Robert was killed as he walked into the den at his home upon returning from school. Diana said she held a .22-caliber rifle in her hands as she watched television and waited for Robert to walk into the den.

"When he walked from the kitchen through the door to the den, I shot him," she said. "He fell forward into the den and his books dropped. I put another bullet into the gun as quick as I could because I didn't know if he was dead, and I didn't want him to suffer. So I shot him again in the back of his head."

Diana said she then waited for her mother.

"She drove up in her car and came up the walk," she said. "I saw then that there was no way that I could shoot mother without her seeing me . . . So I yelled at her not to come in the house, that I didn't want her to see Robert. I started crying and told mother that I had shot Robert and that I was going to shoot us all but I couldn't shoot her."

Mrs. Humphries entered the house, found Robert on the floor, and called police, her husband, R. D. Humphries, a retired Navy seaman, and the family pastor.

Reds' Plan To Lure Chiang Pilots Over Mainland Backfires

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Nationalist China's veteran fighter pilots shot down 10 Communist Chinese MIGs and possibly six others Wednesday in one of the biggest air battles of the jet age, the Defense Ministry reported.

Adm. Liu Hon-tu, the Nationalist military spokesman, said 32 Nationalist Sabre Jets and more than 100 Russian-made MIG17s tangled in the blazing 10-minute fight that ranged more than 400 miles alor the Formosa Strait.

A Red plan to lure the Nationalists over the mainland backfired, he said. All of the Sabres and their American-trained and equipped pilots returned safely.

25 MIGs Bagged In Month

The victory ran the Nationalists' string of claimed air kills to 25 MIGs shot down and six probables without loss of a Nationalist plane since the Quemoy hostilities erupted Aug. 23.

The Nationalists at first said 11 Red planes were shot down Wednesday but later they revised the figure to 10.

Liu told a news conference swarms of the red-starred Communist fighters suddenly swept down at 10:40 a.m. on patrolling Nationalist Sabres and tried to cut off their retreat toward Formosa.

"They tried to force our planes over the mainland," he said. "It was an obvious attempt to manufacture evidence for their claim that the United States and we are responsible for the tension (in the Formosa Strait)."

Sabres Upset Red Plans

The spokesman explained that the Red fighters "tried to force our planes to the west by providing an easier exit in hope of shooting one or more down over the mainland. If they had succeeded they would have claimed they were attacking the mainland."

Instead of fleeing to the west, the Sabres roared into the Red formation with their guns blazing, Liu said.

(Peiping radio claimed the Red Chinese air force shot down one Nationalist fighter and damaged one. The location was given as over Fukien Province opposite the Nationalist offshore islands. Nothing was said about Communist losses.

Crazed Father Kills 4 Children

SPARTA, Mich. (UPI)—A drink-crazed father blew off the heads of his four youngest children early Wednesday in a rage over a separation suit filed by his wife.

He also beat his wife, tried to kill a fifth child and set fire to their filthy, debris-littered farm home.

Then he fled in the family automobile with the intention of killing himself. Police found him dazed and semi-conscious with the shell he had saved for himself still in one of the two shotguns he used on his rampage.

"They are better off dead than living in that rat's nest," Orland McMillan, unemployed factory worker, mumbled to police.

The dead children were Ronald William, 7; Bonnie Jane, 6; Richard, 22 months, and Michele Yvonne, 10 months.

Only McMillan's 36 - year - old wife, Edith, and 8-year-old son, Orland Jr., survived. Mrs. McMillan was at a neighbor's calling police when the four smaller children were killed. Orland said he survived a beating administered by his father and then "played dead."

Probers Take Note Of TV Quiz Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Investigating congressmen said Wednesday they may recommend legislation to help the Federal Communications Commission deal with any fraud in television quiz shows.

The subject came up incidentally at hearings by the special House subcommittee investigating the FCC and other federal regulatory agencies.

Afterward, Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) told reporters the subcommittee has no formal investigation planned, but it is in touch with the New York district attorney's office now investigating charges that some quiz shows were fixed.

Integration Issue Ducked By Governors

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Southern governors ducked the school integration issue Wednesday, closing their 24th annual conference without adopting any resolutions on the subject.

A governor who asked not to be identified said: "The feeling behind the scenes was that it would be better not to discuss any of the various resolutions on this. Because of the widely varying views of the governors, we felt it would do more harm than good to have an open fight."

The executive session which ended the three-day conference was closed to reporters.

A resolution proposed by Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland was killed in the Resolutions Committee, the governors said.

It would have called for the governors to take a stand in support of integration in the South.

They would not say how many votes were cast against McKeldin's resolution.

Wage Dispute Hurts BOAC In Jet Race

LONDON (UPI)—A wage dispute threatened Wednesday to kill the hopes of the British Overseas Airways Corp. of beating Pan American World Airways in the race to open transatlantic jet passenger service.

BOAC engineers served notice they would not work overtime until the wage dispute was settled.

A BOAC spokesman said that until the announcement the company had hoped to launch its jet service with De Havilland Comet IVs on Oct. 21, five days before Pan American was scheduled to start service between New York and Paris and Rome.

Roadblock Set Up For Practice Catches Fugitive

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Oakland County sheriff's deputies nabbed a man while just practicing setting up roadblocks.

A motorist parked his car and walked up to a practice roadblock, saying he wanted to surrender. The man, William E. Robinette, 38, said he thought the roadblock was for him.

Surprised deputies checked. Robinette was wanted on an assault and battery warrant gotten by his wife.

Meyer Named Archbishop Of Chicago

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Archbishop Albert G. Meyer of Milwaukee, a 55-year-old administrator whose natural bent is toward scholarship, was named Wednesday to head the Chicago Roman Catholic archdiocese, America's largest.

The tall, ascetic-looking prelate succeeds the late Samuel Cardinal Stritch, who held the Milwaukee post earlier.

In his new post, Archbishop Meyer will be spiritual director to 1,982,030 Catholics.

Archbishop Amleto Giovanni Cicognani, apostolic delegate to the United States, made the announcement in Washington of the appointment by Pope Pius XII.

Archbishop Meyer was in Baltimore where he was co-consecrator at the elevation of Msgr. Michael Hyle to be coadjutor bishop of Wilmington, Del.

In a statement issued through his chancery office in Milwaukee, Archbishop Meyer said he received the news of his appointment "with feelings of profound humility and reverential gratitude."

Helene Grows Into Hurricane Off Fla. Coast

MIAMI (UPI) — Tropical storm Helene developed Wednesday into a full-fledged hurricane with 80-mile-an-hour winds. The Weather Bureau said it might threaten the U.S. Atlantic Coast.

At 5 p.m. E.S.T. the hurricane's center was located about 425 miles east of Fort Pierce, Fla., at latitude 27.4 north, longitude 73.4 west.

The Weather Bureau said the storm had been moving on a varying track between west and northwest at about 14 miles per hour.

"In view of the storm's continued movement toward the South Atlantic Coast and no strong indication as yet of any material change in direction, interests in this area should keep in touch with all future advisories and bulletins," the Weather Bureau said.

Meanwhile, the season's ninth tropical storm, Ilsa, boiled up 700 miles east of San Juan, Puerto Rico, late Wednesday with highest winds estimated at 45 miles an hour. It was moving west-northwest at about 16 miles per hour.

Hurricane Helene was slowly increasing in size and intensity as it skirted the Florida coastline, forecasters reported.

The 5 p.m. advisory said winds of 70 to 80 miles per hour fanned outward for 100 miles northeast of the center and 40 miles in other directions. Gales extended 200 miles in the northeast semicircle and 110 miles to the southwest.

"Shipping in the path of hurricane Helen should exercise caution and small craft along the South Atlantic Coast should not venture far from protected places," the advisory said.

Chehab Uses Tanks, Troops To Halt Strife

Lebanon President Names Ex-Insurgent Leader As Premier

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Lebanon's new President Gen. Fuad Chehab stopped a deadly outburst of civil warfare here Wednesday with heavy tanks and troops. Wednesday night he named a former rebel leader as his premier.

Nineteen were killed in the day's communal fighting between Christians and Moslems.

The new premier who will head the government under the iron - fisted chief of state is 37-year-old Rashid Karami.

Karami immediately announced a seven-man cabinet would run the government. It includes three former opposition leaders and four so-called neutrals.

The first job will be to try for peace between the two big religious communities.

Scores were reported injured in wild flurries of shooting, bombing and car burning.

Lebanese forces had orders to shoot to kill in a decisive show of armed strength on Chehab's first full day in office.

U. S. Troops Take Positions

U.S. troops were rolled out between clashing Christian and Moslem factions in the hopeful role of peacemakers and to protect American residents.

The rebellion-torn nation is about half Christian, half ...

Chehab is officially Christian but there is also some Moslem background in his family. He took office Tuesday as the newly elected president succeeding Camille Chamoun, a Christian.

The gun fights developed generally between Moslems pouring out of their Basta quarter in celebration of Chehab's inauguration and Christian Falangists who support Chamoun and are resentful over his retirement under rebel drumfire.

American troops took up positions between battling factors in the port area and were spotted around the airport and in the residential section where Americans live.

There were no reports that any American forces took part in any shooting.

Antisniper Patrols

The 1,000 resident U.S. nationals were told to stay inside their homes. Chehab ordered antisniper patrols to shoot down anyone illegally carrying weapons and backed it up with a daylight curfew extending to dusk. The clampdown brought an end to the fighting in four hours.

It was the most drastic action taken by the government since the outbreak of revolt against the Chamoun regime last May.

The Christian Falangists opened Wednesday's fighting. Anti-Chamoun Moslems, who occupy the heavily fortified Basta quarter near the center of the capital, had been blamed for rioting and sniping attacks earlier this year.

Soviets Return Fliers' Bodies

ISTANBUL, Turkey (UPI)—The bodies of six U. S. airmen whose unarmed transport crashed in Soviet Armenia earlier this month were turned over to the United States at a Soviet border town Wednesday.

There still was no word on the fate of 11 other crewmen aboard the plane. The U. S. State Department has charged Soviet interceptors forced the plane over Soviet Armenia where it crashed.

U. S. Air Attache Col. John S. Cahisant and Gov. Hilmi Dagcioglu of the Turkish province of Kars accepted the bodies at Leninakan, on Turkey's border with Soviet Armenia, and took them to Kars, about 45 miles inside Turkey.

The Russian officials said they had not seen the plane's other 11 crewmen, who have been the subject of repeated notes between the U. S. State Department and the Kremlin. The officials said they had no information and knew only about the six bodies they returned Wednesday.

Cahisant stayed in the Russian town for about an hour before leaving for Kars with the bodies, each in an individual coffin.

At Kars, the U. S. Air Force had a transport plane waiting to fly the bodies to Adana, Turkey.

"Bored" Schoolgirl Admits Killing Her Brother And Planning To Slay Parents

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A blonde teen-age girl, described as a brilliant high school senior, admitted killing her brother Tuesday and planning to kill her parents because nothing exciting ever happened around their suburban home.

"I wasn't mad at anybody," Diana Day Humphries, 16, said in a written statement to police.

The statement detailed how she shot her brother, Robert D. Humphries Jr., 14, to death Tuesday but backed out on plans to kill her parents when she saw her mother, Mrs. R. D. Humphries, an airlines clerk, approach the house.

Diana is being held without charge. Juvenile authorities said she will be given psychiatric tests.

Robert was killed as he walked into the den at his home upon returning from school. Diana said she held a .22-caliber rifle in her hands as she watched television and waited for Robert to walk into the den.

"When he walked from the kitchen through the door to the den, I shot him," she said. "He fell forward into the den and his books dropped. I put another bullet into the gun as quick as I could because I didn't know if he was dead, and I didn't want him to suffer. So I shot him again in the back of his head."

Diana said she then waited for her mother.

"She drove up in her car and came up the walk," she said. "I saw then that there was no way that I could shoot mother without her seeing me . . . So I yelled at her not to come in the house, that I didn't want her to see Robert. I started crying and told mother that I had shot Robert and that I was going to shoot us all but I couldn't shoot her."

Mrs. Humphries entered the house, found Robert on the floor, and called police, her husband, R. D. Humphries, a retired Navy seaman, and the family pastor.

Little Rock Tension Erupts Into Violence

Norfolk Students Ask School Reopen

By The Associated Press

Violence erupted in tense Little Rock Wednesday while a federal judge promised a ruling Thursday on private schools operated with public money — keystone of the South's hopes to block racially integrated classrooms.

A group of Negro youths beat three white ninth graders. A mother charged that 9 or 10 Negro youths attacked her son and two other white pupils, and a 16-year-old Negro was in custody of juvenile authorities after a 14-year-old white boy said the Negro attacked him.

About 200 students in Norfolk, Va., staged a quiet demonstration for about 30 minutes at Nortview High School. Banners proclaimed "We want Nortview to open now," and "We want an education! Please open our schools." The school principal said he was informed of the rally and told the students to go ahead with it.

U.S. Dist. Judge John E. Miller has promised to rule Thursday on whether the Little Rock School Board can legally lease public schools for private, segregated operation.

At the same time Miller will hear a plea from the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People to enjoin the board from leasing the buildings. The NAACP petition, filed late Wednesday, also asked that private schools, if opened, be required to admit Negroes under the integration plan previously in effect at Central High.

Several Southern states with similar laws are watching the development closely.

The school board at Norfolk, Va., sought Wednesday to place before the full bench of the 4th Circuit Court of Appeals its plea to delay integration for a year. The action delayed, temporarily, an almost certain state move to take over six schools in Norfolk and close them rather than permit mixed classrooms.

In Atlanta, two federal judges promised 28 Negroes an early trial on their suit to end segregation in the city's public schools. The judges said a decision will be given in plenty of time to allow appeals by either side prior to the opening of classes in September, 1959.

Ala. Governor 'Probably Will' Spare Negro

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Gov. James E. Folsom said Wednesday he "probably will commute" the death sentence of an Alabama Negro convicted of robbing an elderly white widow of $1.95.

Folsom set the clemency hearing for 55-year-old Jimmy Wilson, an illiterate farmhand, for 10 a.m. Friday in his office on Capitol Hill.

The governor said he set the clemency hearing a month earlier than normal procedure to put an end to this "international hullabaloo." Thousands of letters have poured into his office demanding Wilson's sentence be commuted.

Earlier this month, Secretary of State Dulles wrote Folsom that United States embassies abroad were being flooded with letters about the case.

When asked if his setting the hearing before Wilson's attorneys filed a petition for it meant he would commute the sentence, Folsom replied, "I can't announce a decision until I hear the evidence. But you can say, 'I probably will commute the sentence.'"

Wilson is scheduled to die in the electric chair at Kilby Prison here Oct. 24.

Wilson was convicted of robbing Mrs. Estelle Barker, 82, the night of July 27, 1957 at her home in Marion, Ala. Mrs. Barker testified at the trial that the Negro, who had done odd chores around her home, tried to choke her and rape her before scooping up the loose change on her bed.

But Wilson was not tried on an attempted rape, which carries a maximum punishment of 20 years imprisonment. He was tried on nighttime robbery of an inhabited dwelling which is a capital crime under Alabama law.

The all-white jury did not recommend mercy when it found the defendant guilty.

FCC Defers Private Line Teleprinter Rate Hike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Scheduled rate increases for private line teletypewriter services were put off until Jan. 1 by the Federal Communications Commission Wednesday.

In the meantime, the FCC will investigate the reasonableness of the proposed increases, which would cost customers millions of dollars a year.

The suspension order applied to the American Telephone Telegraph Co. and the Western Union Telegraph Co. They had planned to put the higher rates into effect Oct. 1. For ATT the proposed increases average 26 per cent, for Western Union Union 23 per cent.

Under federal law, the FCC may suspend a proposed rate change for a maximum of 90 days.

The higher rates will go into effect automatically on Jan. 1 if the commission hasn't reached a final decision on their reasonableness by that time. But the companies must make reports to the FCC on the additional money collected.

This indicated that if the commission finally rules against any increases it might order refunds to the renters of private lines.

The proposed new rate schedule brought a flood of protests in recent weeks from large users of private line teletypewriter services. Among these were the American Newspaper Publishers Assn., major railroads, stock and commodity exchanges and trucking groups.

The publishers' association contended the distribution of spot news for the reading public would be adversely affected by higher rates.

ATT would realize an additional 11 million dollars from the proposed new rate schedule, while Western Union would get something in the neighborhood of $6,700,000.

The companies argued the increases are needed because of low earnings on teletypewriter services.

Adams Talked Self Out Of Job

WASHINGTON (AP)—The evidence is all-persuasive that Sherman Adams talked himself out of his job.

Republicans in a position to judge say that if Adams had not telephoned GOP National Chairman Meade Alcorn on Aug. 26 he probably still would be firmly entrenched as President Eisenhower's chief assistant.

These same Republicans say they don't think Adams' spectacular, if belated, resignation will make a nickel's worth of difference in the outcome of the November elections.

Until Adams called Alcorn and asked him to poll the Republican National Committee on the political impact of his relations with Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine, Adams' Republican critics had made no headway in their efforts to get rid of him.

The word had gone down the line that Eisenhower was standing solidly behind his aide. Adams had acknowledged receiving expensive gifts and favors from Goldfine but had denied that he got government favors for Goldfine in return.

Alcorn is the authority for the statement that no one—including Eisenhower—asked Adams to resign. Adams made his own decision.

U.S. Opposes China Bombing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy said Wednesday the United States "would not wish for" Chinese Nationalist planes to bomb the Communist-held mainland as long as there was a chance peace talks could succeed.

McElroy made the statement after conferring with President Eisenhower on what the White House called routine Defense Department business. However, it was presumed they discussed some aspects of the Formosa Strait crisis.

The defense secretary told newsmen the beleaguered Nationalist island of Quemoy was receiving supplies "in an improved way with sea and air supply moving along regularly." The island, just off the mainland, has been subjected to intensive Red shelling in recent weeks.

McElroy was asked about a report that this country was "thinking of releasing the air force of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek to bomb the mainland."

"I don't know that this is being contemplated," McElroy said. "It is something we would not wish for. Let's give the Warsaw talks a chance to succeed."

He referred to talks now under way at the Polish capital between U.S. Ambassador Jacob D. Beam and Communist Chinese envoy Wang Pin-nan.

The White House declined comment on a report from Paris that the ambassadors, who held their third meeting Tuesday, had reached some form of agreement.

McElroy's comments on the Formosa situation conformed with the view of officials here that every diplomatic effort must be exerted to keep the Formosa crisis from getting worse.

He referred to talks now under way at the Polish capital between U.S. Ambassador Jacob D. Beam and Communist Chinese envoy Wang Pin-nan.

The White House declined comment on a report from Paris that the ambassadors, who held their third meeting Tuesday, had reached some form of agreement.

McElroy's comments on the Formosa situation conformed with the view of officials here that every diplomatic effort must be exerted to keep the Formosa crisis from getting worse.

FCC Defers Private Line Teleprinter Rate Hike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Scheduled rate increases for private line teletypewriter services were put off until Jan. 1 by the Federal Communications Commission Wednesday.

In the meantime, the FCC will investigate the reasonableness of the proposed increases, which would cost customers millions of dollars a year.

The suspension order applied to the American Telephone Telegraph Co. and the Western Union Telegraph Co. They had planned to put the higher rates into effect Oct. 1. For ATT the proposed increases average 26 per cent, for Western Union Union 23 per cent.

Under federal law, the FCC may suspend a proposed rate change for a maximum of 90 days.

The higher rates will go into effect automatically on Jan. 1 if the commission hasn't reached a final decision on their reasonableness by that time. But the companies must make reports to the FCC on the additional money collected.

This indicated that if the commission finally rules against any increases it might order refunds to the renters of private lines.

The proposed new rate schedule brought a flood of protests in recent weeks from large users of private line teletypewriter services. Among these were the American Newspaper Publishers Assn., major railroads, stock and commodity exchanges and trucking groups.

The publishers' association contended the distribution of spot news for the reading public would be adversely affected by higher rates.

ATT would realize an additional 11 million dollars from the proposed new rate schedule, while Western Union would get something in the neighborhood of $6,700,000.

The companies argued the increases are needed because of low earnings on teletypewriter services.

Electric Power Failures Hit Delmarva Peninsula

SALISBURY, Md. (AP) — The entire Delmarva peninsula was inconvenienced by electrical power failures Wednesday.

George M. Nelson, president of the Eastern Shore Public Service Co., said a mechanical failure in the firm's Indian River power plant caused the blackout.

Nelson gave no further description of the failure but did say it came at a time when that plant was furnishing a mjaor portion of the peninsula's power requirements.

The president said restoring power was complicated by the fact that when the steam generating plants shut down they must be allowed to cool before being re-started, and this can be done only gradually.

Power was flowing properly from the Indian Head and Vienna plants late in the afternoon, for the first time.

The first break came at 8:35 and lasted about an hour and 20 minutes in some areas. At 10:30 the electricity went off again for about 15 minutes. A third breakdown started at 11:12 and wasn't corrected until about 11:30 a.m.

Utilities serving the some 200,000 Eastern Shore residents and their places of business, homes and other establishments said power was available but it couldn't be transmitted. The area affected extended from Dover, Del. to Cape Charles, Va., a distance of 175 miles.

Usually, when transmission fails power is fed into the lines from outside sources but this system also failed.

Telephone switchboards in every community were jammed with calls of those trying to learn what had caused the blackout.

One food processing plant had 10 tons of potatoes destroyed. They were in a lye bath for bleaching. The power failure caused them to be left in the solution too long, dissolving them.

A polio victim, Charles Theis of Salisbury, was kept alive through the quick action of a Cambridge nursing home. He was in a respirator and when the power failed attendants hooked the machine to a battery-powered circuit.

Lead in newspaper linotype machines froze, and caused delay in getting the papers on the streets in Cambridge and Salisbury.

An abdominal operation was under way in the Cambridge Maryland Hospital. The emergency generator was cut in quickly and there was no ill effect.

A Salisbury poultry processing plant lost 200 chickens. They were on an assembly line which jammed when the power cut out.

The Wayne Pump Co. sent its 300 employes home about 11 a.m. because of the power failure. Campbell Soup Co. had 400 idle and said production was cut about 30 per cent.

Shoreland Freezers sent 800 employes home at 10 a.m.

Nelson explained that the mechanical failure at the Indian River plant disconnected it from the system and all machinery there had to be halted.

In 1790, the allotment for pay and rations on U.S. Coast Guard revenue cutters was nine cents a day.

GI Pleads Guilty In Slaying Of Va. Practical Nurse

BAY MINETTE, Ala. (AP)—A Winthrop, N. Y., soldier today pleaded guilty to a first degree murder charge in the fatal beating of a practical nurse from Norfolk, Va.

Circuit Judge Hubert M. Hall directed that the jury called to hear the trial of Army Pvt. Henry Queor Jr., 25, return a verdict of life imprisonment.

Defense attorneys said the guilty plea was submitted to Queor's request. He had pleaded innocent at his recent arraignment.

The New Yorker was indicted for murder in the slaying of Mrs. Pauline Penny, 40. Her battered body was found in a roadside park at Seminole, Ala., near the Florida line, in March 8.

Queor was arrested by the FBI at the Aberdeen, Md., Proving Ground March 19. An FBI spokesman said he was traced through his own abandoned car and Mrs. Penny's automobile.

Sheriff Taylor Wilkins said Queor signed a statement following his arrest in which he said Mrs. Penny picked him up while he was hitchhiking after his car broke down near Chiefland, Fla. The statement quoted him as saying he beat her after she hit him with a whisky bottle during an argument.

About 10 witnesses were standing by to testify at the trial when the defense announced Queor was pleading guilty.

Electronic Devices Speed Road Projects

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Maryland's Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin told Wednesday how electronic brains are speeding road projects in his state.

McKeldin said Maryland is building and modernizing roads as rapidly as at any time in the course of its 12-year program which began in 1953.

But the need for professional and technical manpower is less urgent than it was a few years ago, he said, "because electronic devices have provided a considerable part of the answer."

McKeldin made his remarks in a speech prepared for delivery at the Southern Governors' Conference during a panel discussion on highways.

He said the use of electronic devices by Maryland's State Roads Commission "has increased, and in some instances multiplied, the output and efficiency of the men we have."

McKeldin said an electronic computer and tabulating equipment put in use a year ago in the road design division was soon being used also by the traffic and accounting divisions. This led to establishment of a separate computer division.

Old Fort Goes On Sale Monday

BALTIMORE (AP) — The government formally puts Ft. Carroll up for sale next Monday.

The fort, three acres of fill-dirt and crumbling fortifications, is located in the middle of the Patapsco River near the entrance to Baltimore harbor. It has been sitting idle for nearly a half-century.

Ft. Carroll was built in the 1850s as a protection for Baltimore harbor. But it never fired a shot in anger and its total contribution has been serving as a haven for beached rats and gulls.

Prospective purchasers may inspect the man-made island on Oct. 6 and 13. The Army will provide launches at 10 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

Bids will be opened Oct. 31. Ten per cent of the bid price must accompany each bid.

Government Seeks Conservation Ideas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Agriculture has asked farmers and farm groups in the Maryland-West Virginia - Virginia area for their ideas on soil and water conservation.

Suggested problems could deal with such problems as:

1. Does subsoiling pay as a soil conservation practice? When?
2. What is the most effective width of strip cropping for various degrees of farm slopes?
3. How can you keep heavy farm equipment from packing the soil?
4. When is it better to use open ditch or tile drainage?

Recommendations should be sent in writing, the department said, to Dr. Darnell M. Whitt of the department's research service, at the Plant Industry Station, Beltsville, Md., no later than Nov. 14.

Bishop Hyle Consecrated At Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Most Rev. Michael William Hyle, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, Baltimore, was elevated to coadjutor bishop of Wilmington, Del., Wednesday in the historic Cathedral of the Assumption.

The solemn, two-hour consecration was only the third to be held in the 150-year-old basilica.

Among the score of high church officials was Archbishop Albert G. Meyer of Milwaukee, whose appointment to succeed the late Samual Cardinal Stritch as archbishop of Chicago was announced several hours earlier. Archbishop Meyer, a former classmate of Bishop Hyle, served as a co-consecrator, with Bishop Jerome D. Sebastian, auxiliary bishop of Baltimore.

Hyle, 57, was born in Baltimore and was graduated from the Cathedral School, St. Charles College, St. Mary's Seminary and the North American College in Rome. He was ordained in Rome March 12, 1927, by Archbishop Joseph Palica.

He was reared in the Cathedral parish and first served as an altar boy at the bisilica. Last June 8, at the same altar, he was invested with the rank of monsignor by Archbishop Francis Keough of Baltimore.

Adams Story Has No Parallel

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — In all U.S. history, there is no exact parallel to the Sherman Adams story—simply because never before has there been a job like his.

Pick up a "Congressional Directory" for 1935, for example. Immediately after the biography of Franklin D. Roosevelt, with no fanfare, come short notes on his secretaries, Louis McHenry Howe, Marvin McIntyre and Steve Early.

But a sharp change was made in the directory after Eisenhower took over.

Now, after the President's biography comes this special heading, in bold face type: "Executive Office of the President." And heading that executive office is the assistant to the President, Sherman Adams.

From the very start, then, Adams has been a man set apart.

When he told a national radio and television audience: "I tendered my resignation," he may have been making — unwittingly and unhappily — political history.

For, since no president ever has resigned, it could be argued that never in our strictly political history has any man stepped down from so high up.

As an old military man, Eisenhower naturally turned to the idea of having a chief of staff in the White House. This chief of staff, who was to be Adams, was to help with the endless paper work, see many of the people who needed seeing, say that word that often comes so hard for a politician, "No."

Looking at it with hindsight, the remarkable part of the Adams story is this:

He must have known from the start what a natural target he was. How each move would be watched. How any misdeed, or anything that could be labelled a misdeed, would be eagerly seized.

And, although he bitterly referred to "irresponsible testimony, innuendo and even unsubstantiated gossip" in his resignation speech, Adams knew all along the danger in being a man set apart.

Political science may be the most improbable of all the sciences, but you can bank on this as being almost invariably true:

If we're harsh with our presidents from time to time, we're even more harsh with those we suspect of having some influence over them.

Olive oil has been recognized as a beauty aid for centuries and is an ingredient of many soaps and other products. In Spain, the women use it regularly on eyelashes to make them long and glossy.

Monitor Rates As Newspaper World Paradox

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

One of the strangest paradoxes of the newspaper world today is the Christian Science Monitor.

In a hectic, rough-and-tumble business, it has demonstrated that the gentle, serene approach works too.

And it has made plain that a church can show forth its message without even talking about it.

The Monitor, one of the few full-gauged, daily newspapers in the world owned and published by a religious organization, this year is observing its 50th year of operation.

In that time, it has achieved a standing, both in this country and abroad, as one of the great newspapers of the era.

Yet, with a credo all its own, it shuns much of the grist of the modern journalistic mill — the sex escapades, the didoes of society, the tawdry round of police courts, the gossip columns, the bizarre, the banal and the bloody.

It concentrates instead, as Editor Erwin D. Canham puts it, on information that is "really important to people and their lives."

And that is the task which was set for the Monitor when it was launched in 1908 by Mary Baker Eddy, founder of the First Church of Christ, Scientist. In the paper's first editorial, she laid down its objective:

"To injure no man, but to bless all mankind."

Canham, for 17 years the editorial chief of the Monitor, tells its extraordinary story in a book, "Commitment to Freedom" (Published by Houghton Mifflin Co.), which came out last week.

In general, the Monitor is 100 per cent newspaper, not a religious journal. But, says Canham, "many of its decisions and actions are motivated by profoundly religious criteria." It doesn't hesitate to point up essential spiritual values.

"To emphasize such facts is to get at the real meaning of events," he writes. "It is journalism of the highest order."

And that is the drive that has given the Monitor its rare upbeat assurance, "expectancy of good." That's a fundamental of Christian science.

This doesn't mean, Canham stresses, that the Monitor just skips the unpleasant news and seeks to "throw a rosy glow over a world that is often far from rosy." But it does try to put befogging human aberrations in true perspective.

Can a Christian Science project get a plug in the paper?

Canham says: "The working rule is: 'only if the material would be newsworthy to other newspapers,' and not always then."

The paper's readership, like its contents, is international—90 per cent of its circulation goes by mail to subscribers throughout this country and 120 foreign lands.

As newspapers go, there's an amazing atmosphere at the Monitor—no smoking. Canham relates that on a visit, a rugged Army general glanced about nervously and asked:

"I suppose it's alright to smoke here."

"Oh, quite alright," he was told with typical Monitor graciousness. "Of course, nobody ever has." Neither did the general.

The newspaper won't run liquor or tobacco advertisements.

Oddly, Canham says, figures indicate the biggest single bloc of subscribers are doctors, perhaps because of the growing realization of the spiritual or psychosomatic basis of health.

Canham, 54, sums up the paper's mission:

"Under the silent whirl of the satellites, in the shadow of the mushroom cloud, mankind needs more than ever to awaken from the false dream of security in materialism . . .

"A central and indispensable factor in the awakening of human thought is the definition and affirmation of spiritual values. This is the heart of the Christian Science Monitor.

"Despite its proudly borne name, it is a nondenominational and nonsectarian affirmation. The paper does not ask readers to turn to a particular religious approach, but to God . . .

"We are the generation who lift not only our eyes and our hearts but our bodies toward the stars. For that task, we need first to find our way on earth."

Girl, 14, Given 5-10 Years In Prison For Slaying Cop

AUBURN, Maine (AP)—Sandra Knowlton, 14, was sentenced to 5-10 years in prison Tuesday for the slaying of a Lewiston policeman. She greeted the sentence with a smile and "Thank you."

She was convicted of manslaughter Saturday in the death of patrolman Paul Simard, 32, father of two, last July 7. She had been charged with murder.

The girl admitted in the course of her trial that she fired several shots while being sought by police, neighbors and family on that day. However, she said she did not mean to hit anyone, simply scare them off so she wouldn't be returned to her home which she fled following a family argument.

Sentencing had been delayed pending the arrival of a presentencing report by probation and parole agencies. In passing sentence, Justice James P. Archibald said the report had been filed with the records of the case and impounded.

"I want no one, under any conditions, to see that report," he said.

With good behavior, Sandra will be elgible for freedom by the time she is 18.

Republicans Fall Behind In Garrett Registration

The Garrett County Board of Election Supervisors yesterday released figures that reveal new registration of voters has resulted in a two-to-one ration in favor of Democrats.

The traditionally Republican county signed up 278 new voters, board spokesmen said, with 185 of the registrants signing as Democrats, 92 as Republicans and one as an independent.

A tour of the county by substitute registrars resulted in 18 persons switching their allegiance to the Democratic Party, and five members of that party changing to Republican.

C. E. Stutzman Resigns Post

The Maryland-D.C. AFL-CIO Council acts October 24 on the resignation of four vice presidents, including one from Cumberland.

The four, all officials of the Teamsters Union, are Charles Stutzman, business agent of Local 453, Teamsters Union, this city; Paul Reynolds, Salisbury; E. R. Butler, Hagerstown, and Charles Bell, Washington.

The council will be forced to act because of a new directive issued by AFL-CIO President George Meany. It follows up an earlier order that Teamsters must not hold office in any city or state councils.

The resignations had been placed on file by the council. But because of the new directive, the council probably will act at its October 24 meeting.

When the Teamsters Union was expelled from the AFL-CIO, Meany barred teamsters from holding office in the city or state councils. Harry Cohen, veteran Teamster union leader, resigned as council president, but the other four joined unions in good standing and remained as vice presidents.

Executive Secretary Charles A. Della and W. F. Strong, council president, said they "regret this unfortunate situation."

They said "Maryland and Washington teamsters leaders and members have been a contributing factor in all of labor's endeavors and gains."

Traffic Award Presented To State Police

The LaVale barracks of the Maryland State Police received word yesterday that the Department of Maryland State Police has been awarded a certificate of achievement in police traffic supervision for 1957 by the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

The announcement of the award was made by John D. Holstrom, president of the association, to Governor Theodore R. McKeldin.

Presentation ceremonies were held yesterday in Baltimore on the occasion of the annual traffic safety inventory luncheon, sponsored jointly by the Baltimore Safety Council and Maryland Traffic Safety Commission.

The certificate of achievement was presented to Secretary of State Claude B. Hellman, officiating in the absence of Governor McKeldin. The presentation was made by Chief Robert B. Murray, second vice president of the chiefs' association and superintendent of the Metropolitan Police Department in Washington. Colonel E. F. Munshower, superintendent of the State Police, then accepted the award from Mr. Hellman.

The factors in considering the award were personnel, organization, training, accident investigation and general traffic law enforcement.

The certificates of achievements in police traffic supervision are given on the basis of 85-90 per cent evaluations for states.

Maryland's rating was 89 per cent for 1957. In 1956 the state had a rating of 86 per cent, and in 1955, 84 per cent.

Serves In Pacific

James C. Wilson, machinist's mate fireman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. White of RFD 5, Box 162, Cumberland, is serving aboard the dock landing ship, USS Whetstone, a unit of Pacific Fleet Amphibious Squadron Three, operating out of San Diego, Calif.

Youth Still 'Critical'

Dieter Fleckenstein, 20, Oldenburg, Germany, was reported still in "critical" condition last night at Miners Hospital, Frostburg. The youth was admitted to the hospital Tuesday after being injured in an auto accident on U. S. Route 40 near Grantsville.

One good sneeze can send 20 thousand infection-laden droplets shooting as far as 12 feet at a speed of 150 feet a second.

Tryouts For Minstrelks To Be Held October 1

The first tryouts for talent for the Minstrelks of 1958 will be held Wednesday, October 1, at the home of Aerie 245, FO Eagles.

Joseph F. Stakem, chairman of the minstrel committee, said the tryouts will be held on the third floor of the Eagles building, beginning at 8 p.m.

Stakem also announced that French Sensabaugh and his wife, Maryhelen, will again direct the show which is held for the benefit of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

Stakem explained that because of the extensive improvements under way at the Elks home, the trustees of the Eagles Lodge have offered their quarters for rehearsals.

Anyone in the Tri-State area who would like to be in the show is requested to be on hand for the "Talent scout get-together" on October 1.

Minstrelks of 1958 will be held at the Maryland Theatre on November 1 and 2. Stakem also stated that because of national policy of the National Society for Crippled Children, which prevents the league from accepting donations from the County United Fund, the Elks feel duty-bound to continue this popular way to support the crippled children of Cumberland.

Traffic Award Presented To State Police

The LaVale barracks of the Maryland State Police received word yesterday that the Department of Maryland State Police has been awarded a certificate of achievement in police traffic supervision for 1957 by the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

The announcement of the award was made by John D. Holstrom, president of the association, to Governor Theodore R. McKeldin.

Presentation ceremonies were held yesterday in Baltimore on the occasion of the annual traffic safety inventory luncheon, sponsored jointly by the Baltimore Safety Council and Maryland Traffic Safety Commission.

The certificate of achievement was presented to Secretary of State Claude B. Hellman, officiating in the absence of Governor McKeldin. The presentation was made by Chief Robert B. Murray, second vice president of the chiefs' association and superintendent of the Metropolitan Police Department in Washington. Colonel E. F. Munshower, superintendent of the State Police, then accepted the award from Mr. Hellman.

The factors in considering the award were personnel, organization, training, accident investigation and general traffic law enforcement.

The certificates of achievements in police traffic supervision are given on the basis of 85-90 per cent evaluations for states.

Maryland's rating was 89 per cent for 1957. In 1956 the state had a rating of 86 per cent, and in 1955, 84 per cent.

Should Taxpayers Report Net Worth?

One of the missing Hoffa papers—one which the McClellan investigating committee very much wanted to see—is a statement of the net worth of the Teamster Union's president, James R. Hoffa. It was prepared for Hoffa by an accountant at a time when federal revenue agents were actively looking into his business affairs. But the paper was destroyed on instruction of a union attorney, George S. Fitzgerald.

A statement of the net worth of an individual lists all his assets, minus all outstanding debts. Lawyer Fitzgerald reminded the Senate committee that no law requires any citizen to compile such a statement or to make any such statement available to the government.

This method of enforcing criminal sanctions of the tax laws was upheld by the Supreme Court four years ago in cases which resulted in fines of $5,000 to $10,000, plus jail sentences of one to three years, for four men and one woman. T. Coleman Andrews, Commissioner of Internal Revenue at the time, found the Court's approval "highly gratifying." If it had ruled against the net worth method, he said, any citizen could evade taxes "just refraining from keeping books."

The Internal Revenue Service wishes the law did require the taxpayer to file a net worth statement along with his income tax return. That would give every taxpayer an accurate idea of where he stood financially at the end of each year and—what is of greater interest to the tax collectors—would make tax evasion much more difficult. It would also make filing a return much more difficult for the honest citizen.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

It Is To Laugh

Last July, the Democrats were a sure thing in New York State. No professional politician of either party calculated that the Republicans had any chance whatsoever. The delay in Nelson Rockefeller's steamroller campaign for the nomination, engineered, it is said, by the eminent public relations counsel, Mrs. Anna Rosenberg, was due to the uncertainties of election.

Then the Democrats got to fighting. It is a real, old-fashioned Kilkenny battle of the kind that has not been seen hereabouts in many years. The fight started over the nomination of James Farley for United States Senator. This was thumbs down by Governor Averell Harriman whose No! brooked no discussion whatsoever.

The reason was crystal clear to everyone in this vicinity, namely, that Farley would undoubtedly get more votes than Harriman which would not look good; also, that if Farley were elected United States Senator, he would be the Number One Democrat in New York State and that would be tough on Governor Harriman, Mayor Wagner and even Carmine DeSapio, although the latter did not give this much consideration.

Out of this the quarrel grew, for the Governor, whose tendencies are Old New Dealish, figured that if he associated himself with the Liberal Party, he could free himself from the strait-jacket of the Democratic organization. He therefore began to beat the drums for Thomas K. Finletter, a former Secretary of the Air Force and an idol of the Liberal Party. Carmine DeSapio, the Democratic leader of New York City, advocated Frank Hogan, who has been elected for five terms as a bi-partisan District Attorney in New York County and who is a Democrat. DeSapio slapped Governor Harriman across the knuckles and put Hogan over as candidate for United States Senator at the party convention.

Immediately, the Governor's entourage cried, "Tammany control!" and instead of campaigning against the Republican candidate for Governor, Nelson Rockefeller, they campaigned against Carmine DeSapio who, as leader of Tammany Hall, rescued Averell Harriman in 1954 from oblivion and against all advice had Harriman elected by a small vote.

It is this small vote, 11,000, which is the crux of the problem for Harriman. He calculates that if the Liberal Party, which produced about 264,000 votes in the 1954 Gubernatorial election, had not supported him, he would have been defeated by simple arithmetic. There can be no question but that the calculation was then correct and is now correct.

Therefore to appease the Liberal Party, which is a conglomeration of Socialists and New Dealers and opportunists but has proved to control bloc voting in Dave Dubinsky's International Ladies Garment Workers Union and in other unions, Governor Harriman announced prematurely and altogether out of turn, that in the event that Frank Hogan is elected United States Senator, he will appoint next January, Frank Adams, once New York City Police Commissioner and Finletter's campaign manager, as District Attorney in New York County. Of course, Adams would have to be elected the following November which is politically impossible. Therefore, it is a futile gesture designed to make the Liberals happy.

It made the usual Democrats very unhappy. Throughout the rank and file one could hear rumors that Democrats will vote for Hogan but not for Harriman, because they are not going to let their party be taken over by a bunch of Socialists which is what the Liberal Party truly is.

So there is a fight on and while wise men are trying to assuage all the parties concerned, the truth is that neither Governor Averell Harriman nor candidate Nelson Rockefeller is waging any kind of campaign. What they say sounds like a locker room conversation in the Racquet and Tennis Club or a round-table discussion in the "29" Club where rich men talk to each other and believe that they are listening to the world.

Never has a political campaign in New York known such good manners and such urbanity. It is very gentle, indeed. And if it continues to be as gentle and as soft, many of the voters may stay home altogether because if the parties at issue do not care, why should anybody else?

Meanwhile the Republicans are discovering that the reason that rich men are rich is that they hold on to their money. They had expected to roll in money when they got Nelson Rockefeller as a candidate but they really have less than usual.

Every So Often A Landing

Sherman Adams Seen As Innocent Scapegoat

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — An innocent man went to the gallows of American politics Monday night—convicted not by "a jury of his peers" but by the political hangmen of the hour. His head was not bowed in shame. For his conscience was clear. He yielded only to the law of expediency, which enforces its cruel verdict to satisfy the passions of the mob even in politics.

For the political "lynching" of Sherman Adams was no less an injustice because it was carried out under the "code" which demands that, in order to win elections, suspicion must be accepted as proof. The lifelong reputation of an individual for honesty and integrity must bear now the stigma of an involuntary resignation from a high post in government, though necessarily couched in the phrases of a voluntary act.

Sometimes, however, more votes are lost by the sacrifice of a principle than are gained by a seeming display of virtue. Granted that Sherman Adams accepted gifts from a close personal friend doing business with government agencies, and granted that he performed for him the same service in obtaining information that was given by others who were not friends, will men in public life ever again be given the benefit of the rule that a man is presumed honest until proved dishonest? Will the general public feel now that all men appointed to government who have contributed money to campaigns really owed their appointments to merit? And will those individuals who accept campaign contributions now and are elected to office be free from suspicion that they cannot serve the public interest impartially?

For the martyrdom of Sherman Adams can become sooner or later the martyrdom of any public official who has accepted favors, large or small, from anybody outside the government. The whole political system is adjudged now to have been "corrupted" by this practice. If the elimination of Sherman Adams means that everyone who has accepted gifts is suspect, then the candidates concerned should in all candor withdraw from the race this autumn.

Every candidate who has accepted money for his campaign from any labor-union organization or from any employer organization must disclose all the facts of and explain his voting record with reference to those interests. The new "code" sternly requires it. How many candidates for Congress will come forth to do what Sherman Adams found himself compelled to do?

It has been said on the floor of Congress this year that $700,000 was spent to elect a Democratic Senator with funds collected from labor-union members. It has been said also on the floor of Congress recently that in the last election 175 members in both Houses owed their success in part to labor-union money.

What's the difference between a few hundred dollars paid for a hotel bill or a gift coat and tens of thousands of dollars paid to insure that certain members of Congress will vote on legislation as labor shall dictate? There is none—if suspicion is the only test.

Maybe the Adams case will prove salutary. It will be small comfort to the man himself, who is the victim, though in a larger sense it could do a great deal of good. Hypocrisy, however, reigns here and in the precincts of politics. The only persons who are crucified are those who have the ill luck to be made the victims of party pressure as a result of exposure by the opposite party, which happens to be in control of the investigative machinery in Congress.

The probabilities are that the Republicans will not win the election because they think they now have divested themselves of the smears of the Democrats by bringing about the departure of Sherman Adams from the White House. On the contrary, there will be division in the Republican ranks because of the episode, and many will voice their protest against the "lynching." In the end, the Democrats will win Congress because they have no scruples about taking gifts or accepting millions of dollars from special interests. This pays for the propaganda that misleads the voters and for the expenses of precinct work that brings uninformed voters to the polling booth to vote as the labor bosses have told them to vote under penalty of losing their jobs in supposedly "free America."

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Republican victory chorus started off with the Maine Empty Stein Song.

From the rock-bound shores of New England to the same kind of intellects in Wisconsin they took a beating that would curdle a bass drum.

All of which is as astonishing as a bass voice in a bassinet.

Maine GOP has been in the saddle so long it is getting a bit sore.

Last time the Democrats elected a U.S. Senator was forty-three years ago as the coat-tail flaps.

That 1915 sartorial transportation was furnished by Woodrow Wilson coming up for his second term. Even then it carried more passengers than freight.

Reason for this switch in portable plebiscite was a matter of a large over-ripe hotel bill in the residential districts.

A Disease Of Young People: Mononucleosis

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Infectious mononucleosis is observed more frequently in young people living in boarding schools, college dormitories, and military barracks. It is common also among interns, medical students, and nurses.

We are in the dark about many facets of the disorder, probably because virtually every victim recovers. As a result, there has been no strong incentive to find the cause or develop a protective vaccine. The disease has all the earmarks of an infection and physicians suspect a virus. The organisms are thought to be transmitted during kissing and it has been dubbed "the kissing disease." This is logical, considering the age group.

The manifestations of mononucleosis are diverse. When symptoms are mild and there is no fever, it may go unrecognized. In 85 per cent of all cases the throat is involved. At first a respiratory infection is suspected and a physician may be consulted because of a cold that is "hanging on." The neck glands usually are swollen and the throat is sore and often a brilliant red.

There is mild fever and many complain of chilly sensations, weakness, cough, and stiff neck. Other organs are involved in 15 per cent. The skin turns yellow when the infection settles in the liver. If the nervous system is affected, encephalitis or meningitis may develop. Pressure from the large glands in the abdomen may lead to discomfort indistinguishable from appendictis.

The outlook is good but there is no way to determine when recovery will occur. It is advisable to stay in bed until symptoms subside—for a week or for several months, as the case may be. Those who do not get enough rest grow weaker and more tired. Occasionally there is a relapse.

The antibiotics are of questionable value. The steroids, such as cortisone, have a dramatic but temporary effect. Symptoms return as soon as the remedy is discontinued. In the long run, recovery is hastened by remaining quiet, eating well balanced meals, and drinking plenty of water and fruit juices.

INSULIN AND SUGAR

M. D. E. writes: Are hyperinsulinism and hypoglycemia the same?

REPLY

Only in that the first tends to lead to the second. In hyperinsulinism, the pancreas manufactures an oversupply of insulin which, in turn, lowers the sugar content of the blood.

SKIN ERUPTIONS

W. D. writes: Does the rash of German measles look like prickly heat?

REPLY

Somewhat — especially during the early stages. The first day, the rash resembles scarlet fever and on the second day it looks like regular measles. It fades the third day.

ERUPTION FROM CITRUS

B. F. writes: Whenever I take citrus fruits or juices, my face breaks out. Is this an allergy?

REPLY

Yes.

VITAMINS AND APPETITE

C. B. writes: Why have I lost my appetite since I started taking vitamins?

REPLY

This occurs to some individuals who find the after taste objectionable. Change to a brand with a coating that is slowly digested. A better plan is to get your vitamins in food.

INFECTED STITCHES

Mrs. D. writes: How do stitches become infected after an operation?

REPLY

By becoming contaminated with micro-organisms and festering like a sliver.

DEAF CHILD

Mrs. T. writes: How soon is a hearing aid practicable for a youngster?

REPLY

Usually around age 3, but at one clinic, 11 month old babies were fitted. The device was worn for five minute periods, several times a day, and the interval was lengthened gradually.

INSECT REPELLANTS

W. T. writes: Is powdered sulfur about as good as anything to repel chiggers?

REPLY

It helps but some of the newer repellents are more effective. Our leaflet on chiggers discusses these products and other aspects of the chigger nuisance. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for this leaflet.

TOMORROW: Digestive upsets in tourists.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A Southern lady staged a house party at her plantation, in the course of which she took all the guests on a fox hunt. The ladies had returned to the manor house, and were enjoying their drinks, stretched out on divans in the drawing room, when a maid interrupted them. "Pardon me, ladies," she said respectfully, "but have you any dirty habits?"

Until the guests realized the maid had been sent from the laundry, there was a bit of strain evident in the room!

Composer Dick Rodgers once considered starring Milton Berle in a TV original, and asked the comedian what the tab would come to. "Dick, I'm so flattered that you want me," Berle assured him earnestly, "that money will be the very last thing I think of—before I go to sleep tonight."

"The trouble with most of us," surmises Norman Vincent Peale, "is that we would rather be ruined by praise than saved with criticism."

Faubus' Charge Of Red Influence Brings Rebuttal From Clergymen

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—It looks as if Governor Faubus of Arkansas bit off more than he could chew when he lashed out at the Presbyterian clergy in Little Rock as "Communists." Prior to that, most of the Arkansas clergy had been on the sidelines, some of them even subdued, apparently almost terrorized by the bitterness of their parishioners.

But following the Faubus blast at the Presbyterians, the clergy have spoken out with vigor. Some have even preached sermons urging the people of Little Rock to vote against the Faubus school integration ballot this Saturday.

The irony of Faubus's "Communist" blast against the Presbyterians is the fact that when Faubus first ran for Governor he had this very same charge hurled at him by his opponent, Gov. Francis Cherry, circumstantially, at least with more justification. Faubus had attended Commonwealth College, listed as a Communist institution, where he was president of the student body and delivered the May Day speech, a day significant to Communists.

However, when Faubus claimed he was at Commonwealth only a short time and was a poor boy who was merely trying to get a free education, fair-minded Arkansans reacted against the Cherry charge and voted for Faubus. The accusation helped elect him.

Preachers React

Today many Arkansans are reacting similarly against Faubus's unfair charge against the Presbyterians. Five Methodist ministers in North Little Rock—Worth Gibson, Jesse Johnson, Joseph E. Taylor, Bob Edwards and E. B. Williams—immediately demanded that Faubus apologize.

Following this, Rev. Kenneth Shablin, Methodist, of Little Rock, charged from his pulpit that the Faubus school election was "rigged" and urged that the schools be reopened.

Rev. Dale Cowling, Baptist, president of the Ministerial Alliance, also spoke out against Faubism.

"It is best that we keep our public schools open even if it means integration," he said.

Bishop Paul E. Martin, Methodist Bishop for Arkansas, also took a stand for respect for federal order and racial tolerance.

"A good citizen," he said, "must stand for obedience to the law. . . . As Christians we must remind ourselves that it is our solemn obligation to avoid the world's evil tempers, its hatreds, its prejudices and its pride. If we are to follow the will of God in this troubled time, we must demonstrate in all our relationships to our fellow men love rather than hate. We must maintain a genuine respect for sincere people with whom we disagree and we must recognize and appreciate the dignity and integrity of all children of God."

The issue over which Governor Faubus lashed out at the Presbyterians was a rather mild proposal never actually made and merely reported in the press that one member of the Presbyterian synod would present a resolution proposing that Rev. Billy Graham meet with Governor Faubus to bring about a "healing" of the school crisis. After the Faubus blast, this proposal was withdrawn.

Church Survey

To find out how the churches stood on school integration and what they were doing about it, I called various church leaders in Arkansas.

Dr. Harvard Anderson, head of the Presbyterian Synod in Little Rock, said that the Presbyterian general assembly in 1954 "had spoken emphatically on integration."

"We have all received anonymous calls," he explained. "I was awakened at 6:30 this morning by a threat. But we're going to continue to stand for the things we believe in."

Dr. A. S. Whitlow, executive secretary of the Baptist state convention for Arkansas, explained that the Baptists do not exercise authority over individual churches, but that each church decides for itself what position it will take on school integration and other issues.

"No one can speak for the church as a whole," Dr. Whitlow explained cautiously. He gave the impression that the Baptist clergy were divided.

The Most Rev. Albert L. Fletcher, Catholic Bishop in Little Rock was not available for comment, but I finally reached Father John W. Kordsmeier, superintendent of parochial schools at Little Rock. The Catholic church has taken a more progressive stand regarding integration than any other in the south, but Father Kordsmeier was reluctant to discuss any phase of integration in Arkansas.

"I have no statement to make," he said, when I asked whether Catholic schools in Arkansas were integrated.

"The National Catholic Welfare Council in Washington referred me to you as to whether your schools were integrated."

"I have nothing to say," Father Kordsmeier replied.

"But at least you can tell me whether you are integrated or not?"

"I have nothing to say."

In contrast, Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummell in New Orleans has ruled that all Catholic schools in Louisiana should be integrated.

Several ministers stated that last year Arkansas churches took a more courageous stand for obedience to court decrees and for school integration. Last year during the school crisis, Catholics, Jews and Protestants joined in a "Reconciliation Service," during which Little Rock residents filled the churches to pray for tolerance and racial understanding. This year there has been no similar movement. Several ministers expressed the private view that their congregations were so strong against integration that it was difficult for the clergy to oppose the popular trend.

Following the Faubus blast against the Presbyterians, however, they began to speak out.

Sammy's Here

By Bob Considine

NEW YORK — This is a piece about my friend Sammy Schulman, sole owner, chief stockholder and complete working force of a new photographic service named Prestige Photos. Sammy worked for the late, lamented International News Photos for 38 years. He looks about half that old.

INP was what made Sammy run all those years. He felt lost for the first time in his life when the word came that the company was no more.

"I went fishing for a time," he told us today. "But there's no future in that. So I went back to work."

Among Sammy's new accounts is one in behalf of Nelson Rockefeller, who is running for governor of New York against the incumbent, a rich but honest lad named Ave Harriman.

"That's the full circle for me", Sammy said. "I used to draw the assignment to cover his grandfather when he lived in Lakewood N.J. We'd get old John D. coming out of church, or teeing off on his golf course, or meeting with Will Rogers or somebody like that. The Old Man had his own personal photographer, a fellow named Englebrecht. He'd always arrange for Mr. Rockefeller to present a dime to somebody—usually a little girl — and we'd all fire away."

Sammy shook his happy head as the old scene buzzed inside. Then he came back to September, 1958.

"His grandson pays better," he sighed.

We wrote a book for Bennett Cerf about Sammy during the war called "Where's Sammy?" The answer to that title-question has never been easy. The title came from a query often asked by Sammy's friend Franklin Delano Roosevelt, who'd look around as the photographers would move in on him, grin and ask, "Where's Sammy?"

Sammy was usually there, being crushed under foot. Sammy usually was anywhere when the news broke. The evening in Miami when a befuddled crackpot named Zangara took a potshot at F.D.R. and hit Mayor Cermak, standing next to the President - elect, Sammy was only a couple of feet away. For one of the few times in his life he was uncertain. Should he help pick up Cermak or take his picture? Sammy did not hesitate for long. He took the picture.

Sammy knows such things as the location of secret side doors to the Vatican (out of which he piously spirited pictures of Pope Pius XII's ascension to the throne of Peter.) He managed to get into the first Cabinet meeting of the Decespedes government after it overthrew the Machado group in Cuba years ago, rushed out a door he thought was an exit, and found himself in Machado's private bathroom. There was a phone there. He picked it up, hoping he could make the operator understand that he wanted to speak to the Havana office of International News Service. But a cool voice answered in perfect English. It was a direct line to a New York bank.

In rickety Jennies, Samms flew out to sea taking shots of some of the early desperados of ocean flying, notably Chamberlin and Levin, Byrd and Bert Acosta, Ruther Elder and George Haldeman. In a Farnam 190 he gave chase to the Graf Zeppelin when it broke loose from its moorings and wandered out over the Alps. Intra-plane communications were somewhat primitive on the Farnam. The pilot sat in an open cockpit ahead of and above Sammy and INS man Fred Abbott. They had strings attached to the pilot's shoulders, like reins, to indicate such change of courses as they deemed best.

Sammy held up General Eisenhower's invasion of North Africa for ten minutes, getting down the rope ladder of an attack transport carrying all of his equipment. Some months later he looked up, while sipping at a Casablanca wheat-germ parlor, and his eyes bugged at what he saw. It was Mike Reilly, head of the White House Secret Service. Mike held up a warning finger, then beckoned Sammy to come with him. Sammy took him to an apartment he had scrounced. Mike asked him for the key. Then Mike tore the telephone off the wall, went to the door, grinned and said, "Be a good boy for the next 36 hours and I'll come and get you," then locked the door from the outside. F.D.R.'s impending arrival for the Casablanca conference had to be kept the No. 1 Allied secret.

Then there was the time Sammy mixed the biggest martini in history, in his battle helmet. . . . But those are things that memoirs are made of, and have no place in his life, or connection with his taste-buds, today. Today there is Prestige Photos "available for work anywhere on earth or in space."

Should Taxpayers Report Net Worth?

One of the missing Hoffa papers—one which the McClellan investigating committee very much wanted to see—is a statement of the net worth of the Teamster Union's president, James R. Hoffa. It was prepared for Hoffa by an accountant at a time when federal revenue agents were actively looking into his business affairs. But the paper was destroyed on instruction of a union attorney, George S. Fitzgerald.

A statement of the net worth of an individual lists all his assets, minus all outstanding debts. Lawyer Fitzgerald reminded the Senate committee that no law requires any citizen to compile such a statement or to make any such statement available to the government.

This method of enforcing criminal sanctions of the tax laws was upheld by the Supreme Court four years ago in cases which resulted in fines of $5,000 to $10,000, plus jail sentences of one to three years, for four men and one woman. T. Coleman Andrews, Commissioner of Internal Revenue at the time, found the Court's approval "highly gratifying." If it had ruled against the net worth method, he said, any citizen could evade taxes "just refraining from keeping books."

The Internal Revenue Service wishes the law did require the taxpayer to file a net worth statement along with his income tax return. That would give every taxpayer an accurate idea of where he stood financially at the end of each year and—what is of greater interest to the tax collectors—would make tax evasion much more difficult. It would also make filing a return much more difficult for the honest citizen.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

It Is To Laugh

Last July, the Democrats were a sure thing in New York State. No professional politician of either party calculated that the Republicans had any chance whatsoever. The delay in Nelson Rockefeller's steamroller campaign for the nomination, engineered, it is said, by the eminent public relations counsel, Mrs. Anna Rosenberg, was due to the uncertainties of election.

Then the Democrats got to fighting. It is a real, old-fashioned Kilkenny battle of the kind that has not been seen hereabouts in many years. The fight started over the nomination of James Farley for United States Senator. This was thumbs down by Governor Averell Harriman whose No! brooked no discussion whatsoever.

The reason was crystal clear to everyone in this vicinity, namely, that Farley would undoubtedly get more votes than Harriman which would not look good; also, that if Farley were elected United States Senator, he would be the Number One Democrat in New York State and that would be tough on Governor Harriman, Mayor Wagner and even Carmine DeSapio, although the latter did not give this much consideration.

Out of this the quarrel grew, for the Governor, whose tendencies are Old New Dealish, figured that if he associated himself with the Liberal Party, he could free himself from the strait-jacket of the Democratic organization. He therefore began to beat the drums for Thomas K. Finletter, a former Secretary of the Air Force and an idol of the Liberal Party. Carmine DeSapio, the Democratic leader of New York City, advocated Frank Hogan, who has been elected for five terms as a bi-partisan District Attorney in New York County and who is a Democrat. DeSapio slapped Governor Harriman across the knuckles and put Hogan over as candidate for United States Senator at the party convention.

Immediately, the Governor's entourage cried, "Tammany control!" and instead of campaigning against the Republican candidate for Governor, Nelson Rockefeller, they campaigned against Carmine DeSapio who, as leader of Tammany Hall, rescued Averell Harriman in 1954 from oblivion and against all advice had Harriman elected by a small vote.

It is this small vote, 11,000, which is the crux of the problem for Harriman. He calculates that if the Liberal Party, which produced about 264,000 votes in the 1954 Gubernatorial election, had not supported him, he would have been defeated by simple arithmetic. There can be no question but that the calculation was then correct and is now correct.

Therefore to appease the Liberal Party, which is a conglomeration of Socialists and New Dealers and opportunists but has proved to control bloc voting in Dave Dubinsky's International Ladies Garment Workers Union and in other unions, Governor Harriman announced prematurely and altogether out of turn, that in the event that Frank Hogan is elected United States Senator, he will appoint next January, Frank Adams, once New York City Police Commissioner and Finletter's campaign manager, as District Attorney in New York County. Of course, Adams would have to be elected the following November which is politically impossible. Therefore, it is a futile gesture designed to make the Liberals happy.

It made the usual Democrats very unhappy. Throughout the rank and file one could hear rumors that Democrats will vote for Hogan but not for Harriman, because they are not going to let their party be taken over by a bunch of Socialists which is what the Liberal Party truly is.

So there is a fight on and while wise men are trying to assuage all the parties concerned, the truth is that neither Governor Averell Harriman nor candidate Nelson Rockefeller is waging any kind of campaign. What they say sounds like a locker room conversation in the Racquet and Tennis Club or a round-table discussion in the "29" Club where rich men talk to each other and believe that they are listening to the world.

Never has a political campaign in New York known such good manners and such urbanity. It is very gentle, indeed. And if it continues to be as gentle and as soft, many of the voters may stay home altogether because if the parties at issue do not care, why should anybody else?

Meanwhile the Republicans are discovering that the reason that rich men are rich is that they hold on to their money. They had expected to roll in money when they got Nelson Rockefeller as a candidate but they really have less than usual.

Faubus' Charge Of Red Influence Brings Rebuttal From Clergymen

Sherman Adams Seen As Innocent Scapegoat

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — An innocent man went to the gallows of American politics Monday night—convicted not by "a jury of his peers" but by the political hangmen of the hour. His head was not bowed in shame. For his conscience was clear. He yielded only to the law of expediency, which enforces its cruel verdict to satisfy the passions of the mob even in politics.

For the political "lynching" of Sherman Adams was no less an injustice because it was carried out under the "code" which demands that, in order to win elections, suspicion must be accepted as proof. The lifelong reputation of an individual for honesty and integrity must bear now the stigma of an involuntary resignation from a high post in government, though necessarily couched in the phrases of a voluntary act.

Sometimes, however, more votes are lost by the sacrifice of a principle than are gained by a seeming display of virtue. Granted that Sherman Adams accepted gifts from a close personal friend doing business with government agencies, and granted that he performed for him the same service in obtaining information that was given by others who were not friends, will men in public life ever again be given the benefit of the rule that a man is presumed honest until proved dishonest? Will the general public feel now that all men appointed to government who have contributed money to campaigns really owed their appointments to merit? And will those individuals who accept campaign contributions now and are elected to office be free from suspicion that they cannot serve the public interest impartially?

For the martyrdom of Sherman Adams can become sooner or later the martyrdom of any public official who has accepted favors, large or small, from anybody outside the government. The whole political system is adjudged now to have been "corrupted" by this practice. If the elimination of Sherman Adams means that everyone who has accepted gifts is suspect, then the candidates concerned should in all candor withdraw from the race this autumn.

Every candidate who has accepted money for his campaign from any labor-union organization or from any employer organization must disclose all the facts of and explain his voting record with reference to those interests. The new "code" sternly requires it. How many candidates for Congress will come forth to do what Sherman Adams found himself compelled to do?

It has been said on the floor of Congress this year that $700,000 was spent to elect a Democratic Senator with funds collected from labor-union members. It has been said also on the floor of Congress recently that in the last election 175 members in both Houses owed their success in part to labor-union money.

What's the difference between a few hundred dollars paid for a hotel bill or a gift coat and tens of thousands of dollars paid to insure that certain members of Congress will vote on legislation as labor shall dictate? There is none—if suspicion is the only test.

Maybe the Adams case will prove salutary. It will be small comfort to the man himself, who is the victim, though in a larger sense it could do a great deal of good. Hypocrisy, however, reigns here and in the precincts of politics. The only persons who are crucified are those who have the ill luck to be made the victims of party pressure as a result of exposure by the opposite party, which happens to be in control of the investigative machinery in Congress.

The probabilities are that the Republicans will not win the election because they think they now have divested themselves of the smears of the Democrats by bringing about the departure of Sherman Adams from the White House. On the contrary, there will be division in the Republican ranks because of the episode, and many will voice their protest against the "lynching." In the end, the Democrats will win Congress because they have no scruples about taking gifts or accepting millions of dollars from special interests. This pays for the propaganda that misleads the voters and for the expenses of precinct work that brings uninformed voters to the polling booth to vote as the labor bosses have told them to vote under penalty of losing their jobs in supposedly "free America."

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Republican victory chorus started off with the Maine Empty Stein Song.

From the rock-bound shores of New England to the same kind of intellects in Wisconsin they took a beating that would curdle a bass drum.

All of which is as astonishing as a bass voice in a bassinet.

Maine GOP has been in the saddle so long it is getting a bit sore.

Last time the Democrats elected a U.S. Senator was forty-three years ago as the coat-tail flaps.

That 1915 sartorial transportation was furnished by Woodrow Wilson coming up for his second term. Even then it carried more passengers than freight.

Reason for this switch in portable plebiscite was a matter of a large over-ripe hotel bill in the residential districts.

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Infectious mononucleosis is observed more frequently in young people living in boarding schools, college dormitories, and military barracks. It is common also among interns, medical students, and nurses.

We are in the dark about many facets of the disorder, probably because virtually every victim recovers. As a result, there has been no strong incentive to find the cause or develop a protective vaccine. The disease has all the earmarks of an infection and physicians suspect a virus. The organisms are thought to be transmitted during kissing and it has been dubbed "the kissing disease." This is logical, considering the age group.

The manifestations of mononucleosis are diverse. When symptoms are mild and there is no fever, it may go unrecognized. In 85 per cent of all cases the throat is involved. At first a respiratory infection is suspected and a physician may be consulted because of a cold that is "hanging on." The neck glands usually are swollen and the throat is sore and often a brilliant red.

There is mild fever and many complain of chilly sensations, weakness, cough, and stiff neck. Other organs are involved in 15 per cent. The skin turns yellow when the infection settles in the liver. If the nervous system is affected, encephalitis or meningitis may develop. Pressure from the large glands in the abdomen may lead to discomfort indistinguishable from appendictis.

The outlook is good but there is no way to determine when recovery will occur. It is advisable to stay in bed until symptoms subside—for a week or for several months, as the case may be. Those who do not get enough rest grow weaker and more tired. Occasionally there is a relapse.

The antibiotics are of questionable value. The steroids, such as cortisone, have a dramatic but temporary effect. Symptoms return as soon as the remedy is discontinued. In the long run, recovery is hastened by remaining quiet, eating well balanced meals, and drinking plenty of water and fruit juices.

INSULIN AND SUGAR

M. D. E. writes: Are hyperinsulinism and hypoglycemia the same?

REPLY

Only in that the first tends to lead to the second. In hyperinsulinism, the pancreas manufactures an oversupply of insulin which, in turn, lowers the sugar content of the blood.

SKIN ERUPTIONS

W. D. writes: Does the rash of German measles look like prickly heat?

REPLY

Somewhat — especially during the early stages. The first day, the rash resembles scarlet fever and on the second day it looks like regular measles. It fades the third day.

ERUPTION FROM CITRUS

B. F. writes: Whenever I take citrus fruits or juices, my face breaks out. Is this an allergy?

REPLY

Yes.

VITAMINS AND APPETITE

C. B. writes: Why have I lost my appetite since I started taking vitamins?

REPLY

This occurs to some individuals who find the after taste objectionable. Change to a brand with a coating that is slowly digested. A better plan is to get your vitamins in food.

INFECTED STITCHES

Mrs. D. writes: How do stitches become infected after an operation?

REPLY

By becoming contaminated with micro-organisms and festering like a sliver.

DEAF CHILD

Mrs. T. writes: How soon is a hearing aid practicable for a youngster?

REPLY

Usually around age 3, but at one clinic, 11 month old babies were fitted. The device was worn for five minute periods, several times a day, and the interval was lengthened gradually.

INSECT REPELLANTS

W. T. writes: Is powdered sulfur about as good as anything to repel chiggers?

REPLY

It helps but some of the newer repellents are more effective. Our leaflet on chiggers discusses these products and other aspects of the chigger nuisance. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for this leaflet.

TOMORROW: Digestive upsets in tourists.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

A Southern lady staged a house party at her plantation, in the course of which she took all the guests on a fox hunt. The ladies had returned to the manor house, and were enjoying their drinks, stretched out on divans in the drawing room, when a maid interrupted them. "Pardon me, ladies," she said respectfully, "but have you any dirty habits?"

Until the guests realized the maid had been sent from the laundry, there was a bit of strain evident in the room!

Composer Dick Rodgers once considered starring Milton Berle in a TV original, and asked the comedian what the tab would come to. "Dick, I'm so flattered that you want me," Berle assured him earnestly, "that money will be the very last thing I think of—before I go to sleep tonight."

"The trouble with most of us," surmises Norman Vincent Peale, "is that we would rather be ruined by praise than saved with criticism."

Columbia Bags Second Victory In Yacht Race

Sceptre Is Badly Beaten At Newport

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

ABOARD U.S. COAST GUARD CUTTER off Newport, R.I. (AP) —Defender Columbia gave the British Sceptre the wind she wanted Wednesday and then sailed her into the briny sea for a second straight victory which made a mockery of the famed America's Cup regatta.

The white-hulled U.S. gem of the ocean got the jump on her rival at the start on a bit of brilliant helmsmanship by Skipper Briggs Cunningham. Then, like a fleeting mirage, she sped to a runaway 11 minute, 42 second triumph over a 24-mile triangular course.

Her elapsed time was a fast 3 hours, 17 minutes, 43 seconds.

She led by more than three minutes at the end of the first lap 8-mile leg, and was ahead by more than 7 minutes at the second marker after a broad spinnaker reach.

Show Appears Over

Now even the most stolid British concede that the show is over and that only a miracle can keep the faster and better-handled American boat from winning in four straight.

Thursday they race the windward-leeward course, six mile legs twice over. Weather permitting, Sceptre can show off her flamboyant, sexy spinnaker but her days apparently are numbered.

Wednesday's race actually was a rerun of Monday's contest which was called off when neither finished in the five-and-half-hour time limit. This time Columbia made it quick and painless.

Sceptre, with her hefty bottom and questionable sails, is no match for the swift Columbia in any kind of weather.

Mann Is Outfoxed

Sceptre's helmsman, Lt. Cmdr. Graham Mann, who is sailing master for Queen Elizabeth, was outfoxed at the start. As the two yachts maneuvered before the starting flag fell, the Sceptre got the favorable position on Columbia's tail and sat there. On the leeward side, she was in a position to dictate tactics. But the British boat peeled and headed off just before the flag fell.

She apparently got to the line seconds too soon and had to bear off and run the line.

This was all the opening Columbia needed.

Skipper Cunningham drove through, crossed the line a second ahead and moved into the favorable windward position. Then it ceased to be a race.

MAYOR KEECH PRESENTS AWARD — Yesterday was Cumberland Day at the races and Mayor J. Edwin Keech and members of the council were guests of the fair association. The mayor is shown presenting a U. S. This Series Has 11 New Men; Slaughter Tops The Veterans

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Six members of the Milwaukee Braves and five New York Yankees are World Series eligibles for the first time.

Seven pitchers are on the list for the first time. They are rookies Joe Jay, Carlton Willey and Humberto Robinson and veteran Bob Rush of the Braves and Duke Maas, Ryne Duren and Zack Monroe of the Yankees.

Infielders Harry Hanebrink and Casey Wise of the Braves and left fielder Norm Siebern and first baseman Marv Throneberry of the Yankees are series newcomers.

Three Yankees have been in previous series with other clubs. Virgil Trucks, pitching for Detroit in 1945, beat the Chicago Cubs, 4-1 in game two. Murry Dickson has pitched in two series with the St. Louis Cardinals with one decision. He lost game three in 1946 to Dave Ferriss of the Boston Red Sox. The score was 4-0. Enos Slaughter has played two previous series with the Yankees and two with the Cardinals. He owns a .303 series batting average, including three home runs, for 23 games.

Trucks, Dickson and Slaughter came to the Yankees by way of Kansas City. Slaughter, 42 last April 27, is the oldest series competitor. He is four months older than Dickson.

The Braves have three men who have played in the series with other clubs, Andy Pafko, 37-year-old outfielder, is the only contestant who has played with three clubs. He played in the 1945 series with the Chicago Cubs, in 1952 with Brooklyn and last year with the Braves. For 20 games his average is .206.

Second baseman Red Schoendienst and catcher Del Rice both played in the classic with the 1946 Cardinals. Both were with the Braves last year. For 12 games Schoendienst has a .250 average. Rice's mark for five games is .333.

Chisox Clinch Second Place

Pale Hose Conquer Tigers In 10th, 4-3

CHICAGO (UPI) —The Chicago White Sox clinched second place in the American League Wednesday when Jim Landis tripled and Sherm Lollar singled in the 10th inning for a 4-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

It was the second straight runnerup finish for the White Sox and gave Manager Al Lopez a record of never finishing worse than second for nine consecutive seasons.

Landis' blow was his seventh triple of the season and came off reliever Tom Morgan. Lollar followed with a single to score Landis as the White Sox broke a tie for the second time.

Rookie John Callison put the White Sox ahead, 3-2, in the eighth inning when he singled for his third hit in four trips to score Lollar.

The Tigers chased Billy Pierce in the ninth, scoring their third run on Billy Martin's single, Coot Veal's sacrifice and Red Wilson's run-scoring single.

The victory went to rookie Don Rudolph who came on in the 10th for the White Sox.

The Sports Patrol

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (UPI)—The oddsmakers who like the Yankees at something like 7-5 over the Braves in the World Series could be operating strictly from memory.

Okay, so it's never smart to bet the rent money against the Yankees but from the look of things the current Yanks are well - night as punchless as they were around this time a year ago when the Braves won the series in seven games.

This has been a weird year for the Yankees despite their overwhelming superiority in the American League.

"A lot of fellers on this here club ain't playin' the way they ought to," Stengel snorted at one stage.

"Casey isn't managing as well as he used to, either," came a quote from one of the hired hands.

Pitching Rebuilt

It has been a campaign in which young Norm Siebern and the veteran who still hasn't a steady job —Elston Howard — did the hitting that kept the club afloat.

And it was a year Casey had to rebuild his pitching when various accidents befell Whitey Ford, Don Larsen, Tom Sturdivant and Ryne Duren.

There were trains missed by certain players and private eyes, hired by the club, trailing the Yanks during off-duty hours. Then the scuffle on a train the night the Yankees clinched the pennant with Duren and coach Ralph Houk in the news.

Topping it off was Hoyt Wilhelm's no-hitter against the Yankees at Baltimore last Saturday. It made Stengel madder'n ever.

There was a time earlier in the going when the Yankees were being compared to the great New York clubs of the past. The pennant race was a shambles by Memorial Day with the Yankees already out in front by seven games.

Better Clubs Around

Few cared to listen when Stengel insisted he had at least three better clubs, maybe more, in his 10 years with the Yankees. The old boy is noted for saying harsh things in an effort to avert the complacency he fears more than anything else in baseball.

A glance at the standings, however, indicates this is far from a super - team the Yanks will be sending against the Braves. For all their superiority in the league, they're not setting any record for games won.

Even if they sweep their remaining five games, the Yankees will total only 94 victories—four less than last season.

They lost the season series to the Tigers 10-12 and barely edged the last-place Senators 12-10.

"It would have been a lot tougher for us if the clubs played the same against us early in the year as they did later on," Stengel said.

And to this, some time later, Mike Higgins of the Red Sox said: "The Yankees don't scare you any more. They're good, but they don't scare you."

Aly Khan's Filly Is Destroyed At New York Airport

NEW YORK (UPI) — An 18-month-old brown filly race horse, valued at $25,000 and owned by Prince Aly Khan, was destroyed at Idlewild Airport Wednesday after it "ran wild" aboard a cargo plane.

Police said the filly, which had not yet been named, was sired by Native Dancer out of Misdemeanor by Court Martial. It was to be flown to Paris.

A veterinarian, Dr. Thomas E. Corwin Jr., destroyed the horse after he found it suffering from a compound fracture of the right rear leg.

The horse kicked its way out of its stall in the plane and injured itself when it went berserk. There were four other horses aboard. Police said they remained calm.

One of two grooms suffered minor injuries when the filly kicked him. Police said Herbert Williams of New York was treated by an airport nurse for abrasions of both forearms and the fingers of his left hand.

The pilot of the plane, Capt. Jan Berkum of Amsterdam, radioed the Idlewild control tower that the filly had "gone wild" as he prepared to take off. He was halting the plane on the taxi strip. Police were notified and Dr. Corwin, who happened to be at the airport, ran to the plane.

The flight was delayed while the damaged stalls were repaired.

Hannum To Coach Wichita Cage Team

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Alex Hannum, former coach of the St. Louis Hawks, was named coach of the Wichita team in the National Industrial Basketball League Wednesday.

Hannum succeeds Bruce Drake, former University of Oklahoma coach, who resigned Tuesday to enter the real estate business in Norman, Okla.

Hannum, who joined the St. Louis pro team as player-coach midway in the 1956-7 season, guided it cut of the celler to the National Basketball Assn. Western division title last season. The Hawks then downed the Boston Celtics for the NBA title.

Frick And Skiff Will Miss Series

BRONXVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — Commissioner Ford Frick and New York Yankee scout Bill Skiff Wednesday both were reported in good condition at Lawrence Hospital.

Frick 63, underwent an emergency appendectomy early Tuesday. Skiff suffered a skull fracture and a broken right knee in a fall. Both will miss the opening of the World Series.

Oldtown Road Angler Lands Large Bass

R. C. Brown, RFD 4, Oldtown Road, caught a large mouth bass 23 inches long and scaling 6¾ pounds while fishing yesterday in the Potomac River near Pearre, Md.

Mr. Brown, a Baltimore and Ohio railroad carman helper, said he used a minnow for bait, and had to play the bass for half an hour to keep him from breaking the six-pound test line.

Notre Dame, Army Oklahoma And Navy Saturday Choices

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP) — The football season is off to a rocky start. We suggest she haul out and get the barnacles off her bottom.

In the meantime, here are our choices for another week:

Notre Dame 24, Indiana 14: The Irish have their best team in four years. Indiana rebuilding under Phil Dickens.

Columbia Bags Second Victory In Yacht Race

Sceptre Is Badly Beaten At Newport

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

ABOARD U.S. COAST GUARD CUTTER off Newport, R.I. (AP) —Defender Columbia gave the British Sceptre the wind she wanted Wednesday and then sailed her into the briny sea for a second straight victory which made a mockery of the famed America's Cup regatta.

The white-hulled U.S. gem of the ocean got the jump on her rival at the start on a bit of brilliant helmsmanship by Skipper Briggs Cunningham. Then, like a fleeting mirage, she sped to a runaway 11 minute, 42 second triumph over a 24-mile triangular course.

Her elapsed time was a fast 3 hours, 17 minutes, 43 seconds.

She led by more than three minutes at the end of the first lap 8-mile leg, and was ahead by more than 7 minutes at the second marker after a broad spinnaker reach.

Show Appears Over

Now even the most stolid British concede that the show is over and that only a miracle can keep the faster and better-handled American boat from winning in four straight.

Thursday they race the windward-leeward course, six mile legs twice over. Weather permitting, Sceptre can show off her flamboyant, sexy spinnaker but her days apparently are numbered.

Wednesday's race actually was a rerun of Monday's contest which was called off when neither finished in the five-and-half-hour time limit. This time Columbia made it quick and painless.

Sceptre, with her hefty bottom and questionable sails, is no match for the swift Columbia in any kind of weather.

Mann Is Outfoxed

Sceptre's helmsman, Lt. Cmdr. Graham Mann, who is sailing master for Queen Elizabeth, was outfoxed at the start. As the two yachts maneuvered before the starting flag fell, the Sceptre got the favorable position on Columbia's tail and sat there. On the leeward side, she was in a position to dictate tactics. But the British boat peeled and headed off just before the flag fell.

She apparently got to the line seconds too soon and had to bear off and run the line.

This was all the opening Columbia needed.

Skipper Cunningham drove through, crossed the line a second ahead and moved into the favorable windward position. Then it ceased to be a race.

MAYOR KEECH PRESENTS AWARD — Yesterday was Cumberland Day at the races and Mayor J. Edwin Keech and members of the council were guests of the fair association. The mayor is shown presenting a U. S. This Series Has 11 New Men; Slaughter Tops The Veterans

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Six members of the Milwaukee Braves and five New York Yankees are World Series eligibles for the first time.

Seven pitchers are on the list for the first time. They are rookies Joe Jay, Carlton Willey and Humberto Robinson and veteran Bob Rush of the Braves and Duke Maas, Ryne Duren and Zack Monroe of the Yankees.

Infielders Harry Hanebrink and Casey Wise of the Braves and left fielder Norm Siebern and first baseman Marv Throneberry of the Yankees are series newcomers.

Three Yankees have been in previous series with other clubs. Virgil Trucks, pitching for Detroit in 1945, beat the Chicago Cubs, 4-1 in game two. Murry Dickson has pitched in two series with the St. Louis Cardinals with one decision. He lost game three in 1946 to Dave Ferriss of the Boston Red Sox. The score was 4-0. Enos Slaughter has played two previous series with the Yankees and two with the Cardinals. He owns a .303 series batting average, including three home runs, for 23 games.

Trucks, Dickson and Slaughter came to the Yankees by way of Kansas City. Slaughter, 42 last April 27, is the oldest series competitor. He is four months older than Dickson.

The Braves have three men who have played in the series with other clubs, Andy Pafko, 37-year-old outfielder, is the only contestant who has played with three clubs. He played in the 1945 series with the Chicago Cubs, in 1952 with Brooklyn and last year with the Braves. For 20 games his average is .206.

Second baseman Red Schoendienst and catcher Del Rice both played in the classic with the 1946 Cardinals. Both were with the Braves last year. For 12 games Schoendienst has a .250 average. Rice's mark for five games is .333.

Chisox Clinch Second Place

Pale Hose Conquer Tigers In 10th, 4-3

CHICAGO (UPI) —The Chicago White Sox clinched second place in the American League Wednesday when Jim Landis tripled and Sherm Lollar singled in the 10th inning for a 4-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

It was the second straight runnerup finish for the White Sox and gave Manager Al Lopez a record of never finishing worse than second for nine consecutive seasons.

Landis' blow was his seventh triple of the season and came off reliever Tom Morgan. Lollar followed with a single to score Landis as the White Sox broke a tie for the second time.

Rookie John Callison put the White Sox ahead, 3-2, in the eighth inning when he singled for his third hit in four trips to score Lollar.

The Tigers chased Billy Pierce in the ninth, scoring their third run on Billy Martin's single, Coot Veal's sacrifice and Red Wilson's run-scoring single.

The victory went to rookie Don Rudolph who came on in the 10th for the White Sox.

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (UPI)—The oddsmakers who like the Yankees at something like 7-5 over the Braves in the World Series could be operating strictly from memory.

Okay, so it's never smart to bet the rent money against the Yankees but from the look of things the current Yanks are well - night as punchless as they were around this time a year ago when the Braves won the series in seven games.

This has been a weird year for the Yankees despite their overwhelming superiority in the American League.

"A lot of fellers on this here club ain't playin' the way they ought to," Stengel snorted at one stage.

Pitching Rebuilt

It has been a campaign in which young Norm Siebern and the veteran who still hasn't a steady job —Elston Howard — did the hitting that kept the club afloat.

And it was a year Casey had to rebuild his pitching when various accidents befell Whitey Ford, Don Larsen, Tom Sturdivant and Ryne Duren.

There were trains missed by certain players and private eyes, hired by the club, trailing the Yanks during off-duty hours. Then the scuffle on a train the night the Yankees clinched the pennant with Duren and coach Ralph Houk in the news.

Topping it off was Hoyt Wilhelm's no-hitter against the Yankees at Baltimore last Saturday. It made Stengel madder'n ever.

There was a time earlier in the going when the Yankees were being compared to the great New York clubs of the past. The pennant race was a shambles by Memorial Day with the Yankees already out in front by seven games.

Better Clubs Around

Few cared to listen when Stengel insisted he had at least three better clubs, maybe more, in his 10 years with the Yankees. The old boy is noted for saying harsh things in an effort to avert the complacency he fears more than anything else in baseball.

A glance at the standings, however, indicates this is far from a super - team the Yanks will be sending against the Braves. For all their superiority in the league, they're not setting any record for games won.

Even if they sweep their remaining five games, the Yankees will total only 94 victories—four less than last season.

They lost the season series to the Tigers 10-12 and barely edged the last-place Senators 12-10.

"It would have been a lot tougher for us if the clubs played the same against us early in the year as they did later on," Stengel said.

And to this, some time later, Mike Higgins of the Red Sox said:

"The Yankees don't scare you any more. They're good, but they don't scare you."

Aly Khan's Filly Is Destroyed At New York Airport

NEW YORK (UPI) — An 18-month-old brown filly race horse, valued at $25,000 and owned by Prince Aly Khan, was destroyed at Idlewild Airport Wednesday after it "ran wild" aboard a cargo plane.

Police said the filly, which had not yet been named, was sired by Native Dancer out of Misdemeanor by Court Martial. It was to be flown to Paris.

A veterinarian, Dr. Thomas E. Corwin Jr., destroyed the horse after he found it suffering from a compound fracture of the right rear leg.

The horse kicked its way out of its stall in the plane and injured itself when it went berserk. There were four other horses aboard. Police said they remained calm.

One of two grooms suffered minor injuries when the filly kicked him. Police said Herbert Williams of New York was treated by an airport nurse for abrasions of both forearms and the fingers of his left hand.

The pilot of the plane, Capt. Jan Berkum of Amsterdam, radioed the Idlewild control tower that the filly had "gone wild" as he prepared to take off. He was halting the plane on the taxi strip. Police were notified and Dr. Corwin, who happened to be at the airport, ran to the plane.

The flight was delayed while the damaged stalls were repaired.

Hannum To Coach Wichita Cage Team

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Alex Hannum, former coach of the St. Louis Hawks, was named coach of the Wichita team in the National Industrial Basketball League Wednesday.

Hannum succeeds Bruce Drake, former University of Oklahoma coach, who resigned Tuesday to enter the real estate business in Norman, Okla.

Hannum, who joined the St. Louis pro team as player-coach midway in the 1956-7 season, guided it cut of the celler to the National Basketball Assn. Western division title last season. The Hawks then downed the Boston Celtics for the NBA title.

Frick And Skiff Will Miss Series

BRONXVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — Commissioner Ford Frick and New York Yankee scout Bill Skiff Wednesday both were reported in good condition at Lawrence Hospital.

Frick 63, underwent an emergency appendectomy early Tuesday. Skiff suffered a skull fracture and a broken right knee in a fall. Both will miss the opening of the World Series.

Has To Be Scores At Fairgo, Favorites Take Beating

Reynolds Ups Wins To Twenty, Scenery Tower Pays $38.80

Favorites took a beating in seven contests, High Ridge Farm's Has To Be won the City of Cumberland Purse by a nose over Symphonia, long shots copped the first and third events and Apprentice rider Lawrence Reynolds posted his third "triple" of the meeting yesterday at Fairgo on the annual Cumberland Day program.

A turnout of 3,680 persons turned out for the sport on the ninth day of the Cumberland Fair Association's 12-day session and the mutuel handle of $203,096 was exceeded only by the high of $290,043 on last Saturday.

Robert Littleton, manager of the pari-mutuel department, reported that yesterday's handle was up 3.5 per cent over the $196,168 wagered on the same day in 1957. The betting for the meet hit $1,768,440 which is 5.8 per cent ahead of last year's total of $1,671,440 for the same number of days.

Has To Be Wins 7th

High Ridge Farm's Has To Be, ridden by Stanley Small, nosed out Symphonia, the favorite, in the featured 7th race of 6½ furlongs and paid one of the better prices of the afternoon—$11.80 for $2. The 4-year-old daughter of Provocative, won in 1.23 3/5 and was the third victor of the meeting saddled by Nuncy J. Greco, of Laurel, who got his start like Perry Como — as a barber.

Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, introduced Mayor J. Edwin Keech, who presented trainer Greco with a United States Savings Bond. Members of the City Council were present for the ceremony in the winners' circle.

Scenery Tower Pays $38.80

Scenery Tower, a 2-year-old filly, owned by Mary Parge, and ridden by Carl Gambardella, made its first start in the opening number and batted 1.000 by breaking its maiden. Overlooked in the betting, Scenery Tower started off the day with a $38.80 mutuel. This was the closest finish of the meeting and the photo showed Queen Sophia the loser with Sister Grew third.

"Larry" Reynolds, the leading winning rider, was unseated at the starting gate by Philly Baby before the second race got under way and after a short delay, the plucky Ohio lad was on his feet, jumping up and down before mounting the animal again. He gave Philly Baby a good ride and finished a length in the fore of Herndon in the 6½ furlongs test while Shallow Water showed and Piper's Song, the favorite, came in fourth. Philly Baby paid $5.40.

Scenery Tower (1) and Philly Baby (2) was the winning daily double combination and the payoff was $106.40. It marked the third time at the meeting that the double exceeded more than $100.

Reynolds Has 20 Winners

Reynolds boosted his total winners to 20 in nine days when he also scored with Achsah Ann, a $36.20 for $2 shot in the third and with Hel-Doc ($6.80) in the sixth. Reynolds appears certain to be the leading rider at Fairgo but he would have to ride six winners today to equal the ten-day record of 26, established by Bill Clark in 1955. He could, however, set up a new winning mark for 12-day meets which were launched here in 1956. To date, the 16-year-old Ohioan has had 57 mounts and he's been "in the money" 37 times with a 20-9-8 record.

Lee Saddles 7th Winner

The second best payoff of the day was recorded in the third when Floyd H. Horine's Achsah Ann beat Jean Ann H. by a neck and rewarded backers with $36.20. The Hasteville filly was the seventh winner saddled by Carroll D. Lee at this meeting.

Ernest Seaman was aboard Alfred T. Taylor's Lady Doris, winner of the eighth at the nice price of $19.80 for each $2 ticket played on the nose.

Little Weeper registered a 2½ length's victory over Gin Lee in the fourth race in which Eppa Peppa, first choice of the bettors, finished sixth. The son of Loser Weeper, a 5 to 1 shot, paid $12.40.

TORONTO (UPI) — The Montreal Royals won the International League Governor's Cup Wednesday night by defeating the Toronto Maple Leafs, 11-10, in the fifth game of their best-of-seven final series.

Cubs Whip Giants, 10-3, Mays Cops Batting Lead

Chicago Belts Six Hurlers; Willie Passes Ashburn

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Willie Mays continued his drive for the National League hitting title Wednesday with a double and triple as the San Francisco Giants lost to Chicago 10-3 and missed another chance to clinch third place.

Mays jumped his average to .346 with a triple in the first and a double in the third, both booming drives. He grounded out in the fifth and walked in the seventh to go two for three. He went two percentage points ahead of idle Richie Ashburn of Philadelphia.

Mays, who won his only NL batting crown in 1954, is belting the ball at a red-hot clip in his past 11 games.

A crowd of 7,887 watched the Cubs pound six Giant pitchers for 14 hits, including Bobby Thomson's 20th home run and Lou Jackson's three-run triple in the five-run ninth.

The Giants need only one victory to clinch third place but the Cubs have stopped them twice in this, their last series of the season, at Seals Stadium.

They have three games left with St. Louis, beginning Friday.

Scoreboard Is Ordered For Beall

Committees Named By Boosters Club

A football scoreboard has been ordered for Beall High School Stadium and the Beall High Boosters Club reports it may be in operation by the time Fort Hill plays the Mountaineers on Friday, October 3.

The scoreboard fund-raising campaign is one of the projects of the Boosters Club. The board will cost approximately $1,500 and has been ordered by Dr. Wayne Hill, principal.

Several years ago, the Beall High Alumni Association received $300 in a drive to purchase a scoreboard and that amount, now in the bank, will be added to the fund now being raised.

Members of the scoreboard fund committee are Earl Thomas and Walter Minnick, co-chairmen, Sam Myers and John Hansel.

Membership tickets for those desiring to join the Beall Boosters Club have been printed and are being distributed by a committee composed of Leo McNeil, chairman, Ronnie Plummer, Thomas Pugh, James Mallow and John O'Rourke.

At a meeting last week the Boosters saw movies of the Beall-Allegany game and tonight when they meet at the high school at 8 o'clock films of the Beall-Keyser game will be shown.

Sonny Ray Stops Bowdry In Ninth

CHICAGO (UPI) —Sonny Ray of Chicago scored an upset technical knockout over highly rated light heavyweight Jesse Bowdry at 1:22 of the ninth round Wednesday night for his third win in four starts against the St. Louis battler.

The win extended Ray's winning streak to 10 straight fights, giving him a pro record of 18 wins, five losses and five draws, and broke a 10 fight winning streak for Bowdry, who was ranked sixth among the 175 pounders by Ring Magazine and seventh by the National Boxing Association before the bout.

Ray, even though the underdog, had beaten Bowdry in their last two meetings, knocking him out in two rounds July 24, 1957, their last encounter. Earlier he decisioned him in six rounds after Bowdry won a four round decision in their first bout.

Archie Moore Matched With Yvon Durelle

Montreal Gets Title Fight December 10

NEW YORK (UPI) — Champion Archie Moore and Canadian Yvon Durelle have been matched for a world light heavyweight title fight at the Montreal Forum, Dec. 10, it was learned Wednesday night.

Ancient Archie and Durelle, the British Empire champion, are slated to sign Thursday noon at the Queen Elizabeth Hotel, Montreal, for their 15-rounder.

Moore will receive a guarantee of $75,000. Durelle, owner of a small fishing fleet at Bay St. Anne, N. B., will receive 60 per cent of all net receipts, including the $75,000 from television. But Durelle must pay Moore his $75,000 guarantee.

However, promoter Eddie Quinn guarantees that Durelle will receive at least $12,000 — should his percentages fail to equal the $75,000 he guarantees Moore.

The bout will be televised to homes in Canada and the United States, with a blackout on a 200-mile radius covering much of the French section of Canada.)

Orioles Whip Senators, 2-0

Arnold Portocarrero Racks Up 15th Win

BALTIMORE (AP) — Arnold Portocarrero notched his 15th victory — a modern Oriole record—Wednesday night by shutting out the Washington Senators 2-0 on three hits off loser Camilo Pascual in the second and third frames.

Portocarrero, a Kansas City castoff whom manager Paul Richards acquired in a mid-April swap for Bud Daley, struck out eight and walked only two. The victory brought his record to 15-11.

He was tied, as he went into Wednesday night's game, with teammate Billy O'Dell who won 14 this season before being sent home with a sore arm. Other 14-game winners for Baltimore were Bob Turley in 1954 and Connie Johnson in 1957.

Dixie Series May Be Called Off Due To Birmingham Law

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) —Minor League President George Trautman said Wednesday that if Austin won the Texas League playoffs Wednesday night, there would not be a Dixie Series this year because Birmingham, Ala., prohibits white and Negro athletics from playing together in the city.

However, Trautman said, if Corpus Christi won the TL title the Dixie Series may be played by replacing of Corpus Christi's three Negro players by three white players from the club's 19 players certified to play in the series.

Birmingham is the Southern Association representative in the series. The city, in June, 1954, passed an ordinance prohibiting the playing of games between the races in the city.

Austin, with four Negro players, said it would not play any games in Birmingham as long as the ordinance was on the books.

Corpus Christi and Austin were to play the last game Wednesday night of a best-four-of-seven-game playoff.

Trautman said he would agree to Corpus Christi's playing in Birmingham as long as the team does not attempt to use three replacements who have not been certified.

"I will not approve any agreement for substitutions solely to enable the playing of a white player for a Negro," Trautman said.

Miteff Is Kayoed, Contract Nullified

LONDON (AP)—London promoter Harry Levene Wednesday called off the Oct. 14 heavyweight fight between Britain's Henry Cooper and Argentine's Alex Miteff on grounds the Argentinian had violated his contract.

Miteff was knocked out in one round by Willie Besmanoff of Germany at Seattle Tuesday night.

"It was in Miteff's contract that he must not fight before he met Cooper," said a Levene spokesman. "He has done so and was beaten. He has therefore nullified his contract."

Hack To Manage At St. Petersburg

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Stan Hack, interim manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, Wednesday was named manager of the Redbirds' St. Petersburg, Fla., team in the Florida west coast winter instructional program.

Hack is being released at season's end from his contract as a Cardinal coach. He served the past two seasons under ex-manager Fred Hutchinson.

K.C. Retains Craft, Newspaper Reports

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Harry Craft, who in his first full season as a big league manager has kept his Kansas City Athletics within a few games of the first division, is understood to have signed a 1959 contract with the club, the Kansas City Star said Wednesday.

Craft himself refused to confirm or deny the report.

"I can't tell you," he said. "That will have to come from the front office."

A's General Manager Parke Carroll was out of the city.

Fairgo Facts

By C. V. BURNS

Jockey Bill Liddle's wife, Elisa, gave birth to a boy weighing 6 pounds, 5 ounces, at Mercy Hospital, Miami, Fla., on Tuesday at 5:30 a.m.

Bill received the good news by telegram just 10 minutes before he placed with Kay's Jimmy which paid $36.20 in the fourth race on Tuesday.

The baby has been named William, Jr.

The Liddles have a three-year-old daughter, Evelyn.

Carroll Lee, 52, of Leesburg, Va., the leading winning trainer at the meeting, who has the contract of Apprentice Lawrence Reynolds for four years, first met the sensational young rider at the Thistledown track in Ohio.

Lee has been associated with racing for thirty years.

He has another boy now under his wing in the person of Ronald Lee Rickard, 17, of Ashtabula, Ohio. Rickard is 5-feet-3 and tips the beam at 105 pounds.

The first horse that Reynolds ever rode in a race was Combahee. In fact, "Larry" was aboard Combahee twice at Laurel and finished fourth and second.

Charles Sinclair, who makes the program selections at Fairgo, and has been doing a swell job, recalls the day he picked the winners of the first seven races at Hagerstown.

After the 7th race Dr. Snavely, president of the Hagerstown Fair Association, came to him and said:

"If you have the winner in the 8th race I'll give you a $50 bill."

"The horse I picked didn't win the 8th but just lost by a nose," Sinclair said.

Trainer John Bringhurst, who has been coming to Fairgo since the five-day meetings, says he remembers when Gil Haus used to sell programs at the main entrance of the grandstand. Haus is now racing secretary at Delaware Park and serves as an official at other major tracks.

The first race with pari-mutuel betting was run at Fairgo on October 6, 1925.

On the opening day of that 5-day session, W. L. Sanders' Lady George won the 6th and returned $142.50 for $2. Only four persons held tickets on the winner.

Raymond "Sonny" Workman, who was voted into the Jockeys' Hall of Fame at Pimlico, was the leading rider here in 1926 when the purses were $500, seven races were run daily, and only win and place money was paid.

Fairgo's record daily double payoff of $1,463.80 is now 16 years old.

The winning combination in 1942 was Grape Vine (8) and Vera M (3).

Top payoff on a $2 win ticket is $161.80 on Ladys Favor in 1937.

Jockey Albert Adams, who established a national record of nine consecutive winners at Marlboro, Sept. 10, 11 and 12, 1930, rode at Fairgo the same year and was runnerup to Joe O'Malley (11-6-3), the leading rider, with a 6-3-2 mark.

Snead Is Favored In Open Tourney

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) —Sam Snead will face one of the toughest tests of his career here this weekend when he goes after his eighth West Virginia Open golf victory.

The slammer from White Sulphur Springs is a heavy favorite to win the 54-hole event — reduced by 18 holes from former years — although some good opposition faces him. But the biggest test will be against par on the Lakeview Country Club course.

Nobody has even broken par in tournament competition. The man who came closest was veteran Lew Worsham of Pittsburgh who fired an even-par 71 in a pro-amateur tourney here last July.

Pirates' Murtaugh Is A Cinch For Manager Of Year Honors

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

One thing certain about the 1958 baseball season is the position of Daniel Edward Murtaugh of the Pittsburgh Pirates. There should be no doubt about him being named manager of the year when the ballots are tabulated later this fall.

The 41-year-old former second baseman, who at best during his playing days was nothing more than a fill-in, took a seventh place Pittsburgh team and made it a pennant contender.

It was a wise choice that General Manager Joe L. Brown made on Aug. 3, 1957, when he decided to replace Bobby Bragan with Murtaugh, a coach for two years. Brown previously had been general manager of the Pirates' New Orleans farm team and he liked the way Murtaugh managed in the Southern Assn.

During the last half of the 1958 season the Pirates played baseball just as well as the Milwaukee Braves. True, the season runs 154 games but if you look back to the halfway (77 games) mark you will find that Milwaukee had 42 victories and was in the lead. The Pirates had 36 triumphs and were in seventh place, only two games ahead of tthe Los Angeles Dodgers. In head-on clashes with the Braves, the Pirates refused to become awed by the world champions. They split their 22 meetings.

The Pirates jelled during the season and Murtaugh made only one big change in the team. When it was evident that Ted Kluszewski couldn't carry the big bat in the cleanup spot, Murtaugh inserted Dick Stuart, a minor league home run king who had failed to make it under Bragan. Stuart strikes out a lot but he did drive in 60 runs in his first 45 games under Murtaugh.

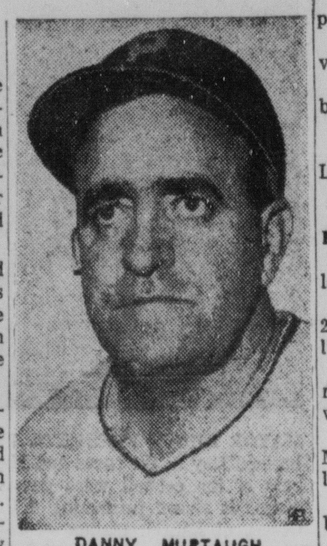
Murtaugh's big gamble, however, was in his pitching staff. He came out on the short end of a deal which sent Bob Purkey to Cincinnati for Don Gross. But Danny was impressed with rookies George Witt, Curt Raydon and Ron Blackburn. He had other rookie pitchers at Fort Myers, Fla., but by a process of elimination, he came up with what he thought was the best.

Witt and Raydon have been the bright spots. Witt, 25, had an 18-7 record with Hollywood in the Pacific Coast League last season. He was optioned to Columbus Ohio, in May but Murtaugh brought him back in June and he won eight of 10 decisions to lead the Pirate pitchers in the earned run rankings.

Raydon hadn't been above .500 since 1955 but now he looks like another case of a pitcher beginning to mature in the majors at 25.

And Murtaugh is just another example that a big leaguer need not be a .300 hitter to make the grade as a manager. In 707 games as a National League player with Philadelphia, Boston and Pittsburgh he hit .254.

He certainly made it big in his first full season as a major league manager.



DANNY MURTAUGH

Norm Van Brocklin of the Philadelphia Eagles was the fourth leading National Football League passer last season with Los Angeles.

Has To Be Scores At Fairgo, Favorites Take Beating

Reynolds Ups Wins To Twenty, Scenery Tower Pays $38.80

Favorites took a beating in seven contests, High Ridge Farm's Has To Be won the City of Cumberland Purse by a nose over Symphonia, long shots copped the first and third events and Apprentice rider Lawrence Reynolds posted his third "triple" of the meeting yesterday at Fairgo on the annual Cumberland Day program.

A turnout of 3,680 persons turned out for the sport on the ninth day of the Cumberland Fair Association's 12-day session and the mutuel handle of $203,096 was exceeded only by the high of $290,043 on last Saturday.

Robert Littleton, manager of the pari-mutuel department, reported that yesterday's handle was up 3.5 per cent over the $196,168 wagered on the same day in 1957. The betting for the meet hit $1,768,440 which is 5.8 per cent ahead of last year's total of $1,671,440 for the same number of days.

Has To Be Wins 7th

High Ridge Farm's Has To Be, ridden by Stanley Small, nosed out Symphonia, the favorite, in the featured 7th race of 6½ furlongs and paid one of the better prices of the afternoon—$11.80 for $2. The 4-year-old daughter of Provocative, won in 1.23 3/5 and was the third victor of the meeting saddled by Nuncy J. Greco, of Laurel, who got his start like Perry Como — as a barber.

Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, introduced Mayor J. Edwin Keech, who presented trainer Greco with a United States Savings Bond. Members of the City Council were present for the ceremony in the winners' circle.

Scenery Tower Pays $38.80

Scenery Tower, a 2-year-old filly, owned by Mary Parge, and ridden by Carl Gambardella, made its first start in the opening number and batted 1.000 by breaking its maiden. Overlooked in the betting, Scenery Tower started off the day with a $38.80 mutuel. This was the closest finish of the meeting and the photo showed Queen Sophia the loser with Sister Grew third.

"Larry" Reynolds, the leading winning rider, was unseated at the starting gate by Philly Baby before the second race got under way and after a short delay, the plucky Ohio lad was on his feet, jumping up and down before mounting the animal again. He gave Philly Baby a good ride and finished a length in the fore of Herndon in the 6½ furlongs test while Shallow Water showed and Piper's Song, the favorite, came in fourth. Philly Baby paid $5.40.

Scenery Tower (1) and Philly Baby (2) was the winning daily double combination and the payoff was $106.40. It marked the third time at the meeting that the double exceeded more than $100.

Reynolds Has 20 Winners

Reynolds boosted his total winners to 20 in nine days when he also scored with Achsah Ann, a $36.20 for $2 shot in the third and with Hel-Doc ($6.80) in the sixth. Reynolds appears certain to be the leading rider at Fairgo but he would have to ride six winners today to equal the ten-day record of 26, established by Bill Clark in 1955. He could, however, set up a new winning mark for 12-day meets which were launched here in 1956. To date, the 16-year-old Ohioan has had 57 mounts and he's been "in the money" 37 times with a 20-9-8 record.

Lee Saddles 7th Winner

The second best payoff of the day was recorded in the third when Floyd H. Horine's Achsah Ann beat Jean Ann H. by a neck and rewarded backers with $36.20. The Hasteville filly was the seventh winner saddled by Carroll D. Lee at this meeting.

Ernest Seaman was aboard Alfred T. Taylor's Lady Doris, winner of the eighth at the nice price of $19.80 for each $2 ticket played on the nose.

Little Weeper registered a 2½ length's victory over Gin Lee in the fourth race in which Eppa Peppa, first choice of the bettors, finished sixth. The son of Loser Weeper, a 5 to 1 shot, paid $12.40.

Today Is Elks Day

Today Is Elks Day at Fairgo and the B.P.O. Elks race, 7th on the card, will be the main event. Post time for the opener is 2 p.m., EDT.

Royals Win Cup

TORONTO (UPI) — The Montreal Royals won the International League Governor's Cup Wednesday night by defeating the Toronto Maple Leafs, 11-10, in the fifth game of their best-of-seven final series.

Cubs Whip Giants, 10-3, Mays Cops Batting Lead

Chicago Belts Six Hurlers; Willie Passes Ashburn

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Willie Mays continued his drive for the National League hitting title Wednesday with a double and triple as the San Francisco Giants lost to Chicago 10-3 and missed another chance to clinch third place.

Mays jumped his average to .346 with a triple in the first and a double in the third, both booming drives. He grounded out in the fifth and walked in the seventh to go two for three. He went two percentage points ahead of idle Richie Ashburn of Philadelphia.

Mays, who won his only NL batting crown in 1954, is belting the ball at a red-hot clip in his past 11 games.

A crowd of 7,887 watched the Cubs pound six Giant pitchers for 14 hits, including Bobby Thomson's 20th home run and Lou Jackson's three-run triple in the five-run ninth.

The Giants need only one victory to clinch third place but the Cubs have stopped them twice in this, their last series of the season, at Seals Stadium.

They have three games left with St. Louis, beginning Friday.

Scoreboard Is Ordered For Beall

Committees Named By Boosters Club

A football scoreboard has been ordered for Beall High School Stadium and the Beall High Boosters Club reports it may be in operation by the time Fort Hill plays the Mountaineers on Friday, October 3.

The scoreboard fund-raising campaign is one of the projects of the Boosters Club. The board will cost approximately $1,500 and has been ordered by Dr. Wayne Hill, principal.

Several years ago, the Beall High Alumni Association received $300 in a drive to purchase a scoreboard and that amount, now in the bank, will be added to the fund now being raised.

Members of the scoreboard fund committee are Earl Thomas and Walter Minnick, co-chairmen, Sam Myers and John Hansel.

Membership tickets for those desiring to join the Beall Boosters Club have been printed and are being distributed by a committee composed of Leo McNeil, chairman, Ronnie Plummer, Thomas Pugh, James Mallow and John O'Rourke.

At a meeting last week the Boosters saw movies of the Beall-Allegany game and tonight when they meet at the high school at 8 o'clock films of the Beall-Keyser game will be shown.

Sonny Ray Stops Bowdry In Ninth

CHICAGO (UPI) —Sonny Ray of Chicago scored an upset technical knockout over highly rated light heavyweight Jesse Bowdry at 1:22 of the ninth round Wednesday night for his third win in four starts against the St. Louis battler.

The win extended Ray's winning streak to 10 straight fights, giving him a pro record of 18 wins, five losses and five draws, and broke a 10 fight winning streak for Bowdry, who was ranked sixth among the 175 pounders by Ring Magazine and seventh by the National Boxing Association before the bout.

Ray, even though the underdog, had beaten Bowdry in their last two meetings, knocking him out in two rounds July 24, 1957, their last encounter. Earlier he decisioned him in six rounds after Bowdry won a four round decision in their first bout.

Archie Moore Matched With Yvon Durelle

Montreal Gets Title Fight December 10

NEW YORK (UPI) — Champion Archie Moore and Canadian Yvon Durelle have been matched for a world light heavyweight title fight at the Montreal Forum, Dec. 10, it was learned Wednesday night.

Ancient Archie and Durelle, the British Empire champion, are slated to sign Thursday noon at the Queen Elizabeth Hotel, Montreal, for their 15-rounder.

Moore will receive a guarantee of $75,000. Durelle, owner of a small fishing fleet at Bay St. Anne, N. B., will receive 60 per cent of all net receipts, including the $75,000 from television. But Durelle must pay Moore his $75,000 guarantee.

However, promoter Eddie Quinn guarantees that Durelle will receive at least $12,000 — should his percentages fail to equal the $75,000 he guarantees Moore.

The bout will be televised to homes in Canada and the United States, with a blackout on a 200-mile radius covering much of the French section of Canada.)

Orioles Whip Senators, 2-0

Arnold Portocarrero Racks Up 15th Win

BALTIMORE (AP) — Arnold Portocarrero notched his 15th victory — a modern Oriole record—Wednesday night by shutting out the Washington Senators 2-0 on three hits off loser Camilo Pascual in the second and third frames.

Portocarrero, a Kansas City castoff whom manager Paul Richards acquired in a mid-April swap for Bud Daley, struck out eight and walked only two. The victory brought his record to 15-11.

He was tied, as he went into Wednesday night's game, with teammate Billy O'Dell who won 14 this season before being sent home with a sore arm. Other 14-game winners for Baltimore were Bob Turley in 1954 and Connie Johnson in 1957.

Dixie Series May Be Called Off Due To Birmingham Law

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) —Minor League President George Trautman said Wednesday that if Austin won the Texas League playoffs Wednesday night, there would not be a Dixie Series this year because Birmingham, Ala., prohibits white and Negro athletics from playing together in the city.

However, Trautman said, if Corpus Christi won the TL title the Dixie Series may be played by replacing of Corpus Christi's three Negro players by three white players from the club's 19 players certified to play in the series.

Birmingham is the Southern Association representative in the series. The city, in June, 1954, passed an ordinance prohibiting the playing of games between the races in the city.

Austin, with four Negro players, said it would not play any games in Birmingham as long as the ordinance was on the books.

Corpus Christi and Austin were to play the last game Wednesday night of a best-four-of-seven game playoff.

Trautman said he would agree to Corpus Christi's playing in Birmingham as long as the team does not attempt to use three replacements who have not been certified.

"I will not approve any agreement for substitutions solely to enable the playing of a white player for a Negro," Trautman said.

Miteff Is Kayoed, Contract Nullified

LONDON (AP)—London promoter Harry Levene Wednesday called off the Oct. 14 heavyweight fight between Britain's Henry Cooper and Argentine's Alex Miteff on grounds the Argentinian had violated his contract.

Miteff was knocked out in one round by Willie Besmanoff of Germany at Seattle Tuesday night.

"It was in Miteff's contract that he must not fight before he met Cooper," said a Levene spokesman. "He has done so and was beaten. He has therefore nullified his contract."

Hack To Manage At St. Petersburg

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Stan Hack, interim manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, Wednesday was named manager of the Redbirds' St. Petersburg, Fla., team in the Florida west coast winter instructional program.

Hack is being released at season's end from his contract as a Cardinal coach. He served the past two seasons under ex-manager Fred Hutchinson.

K.C. Retains Craft, Newspaper Reports

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Harry Craft, who in his first full season as a big league manager has kept his Kansas City Athletics within a few games of the first division, is understood to have signed a 1959 contract with the club, the Kansas City Star said Wednesday.

Craft himself refused to confirm or deny the report.

"I can't tell you," he said. "That will have to come from the front office."

A's General Manager Parke Carroll was out of the city.

Fairgo Facts

By C. V. BURNS

Jockey Bill Liddle's wife, Elisa, gave birth to a boy weighing 6 pounds, 5 ounces, at Mercy Hospital, Miami, Fla., on Tuesday at 5:30 a.m.

Bill received the good news by telegram just 10 minutes before he placed with Kay's Jimmy which paid $36.20 in the fourth race on Tuesday.

The baby has been named William, Jr.

The Liddles have a three-year-old daughter, Evelyn.

Carroll Lee, 52, of Leesburg, Va., the leading winning trainer at the meeting, who has the contract of Apprentice Lawrence Reynolds for four years, first met the sensational young rider at the Thistledown track in Ohio.

Lee has been associated with racing for thirty years.

He has another boy now under his wing in the person of Ronald Lee Rickard, 17, of Ashtabula, Ohio. Rickard is 5-feet-3 and tips the beam at 105 pounds.

The first horse that Reynolds ever rode in a race was Combahee. In fact, "Larry" was aboard Combahee twice at Laurel and finished fourth and second.

Charles Sinclair, who makes the program selections at Fairgo, and has been doing a swell job, recalls the day he picked the winners of the first seven races at Hagerstown.

After the 7th race Dr. Snavely, president of the Hagerstown Fair Association, came to him and said:

"If you have the winner in the 8th race I'll give you a $50 bill."

"The horse I picked didn't win the 8th but just lost by a nose," Sinclair said.

Trainer John Bringhurst, who has been coming to Fairgo since the five-day meetings, says he remembers when Gil Haus used to sell programs at the main entrance of the grandstand. Haus is now racing secretary at Delaware Park and serves as an official at other major tracks.

The first race with pari-mutuel betting was run at Fairgo on October 6, 1925.

On the opening day of that 5-day session, W. L. Sanders' Lady George won the 6th and returned $142.50 for $2. Only four persons held tickets on the winner.

Raymond "Sonny" Workman, who was voted into the Jockeys' Hall of Fame at Pimlico, was the leading rider here in 1926 when the purses were $500, seven races were run daily, and only win and place money was paid.

Fairgo's record daily double payoff of $1,463.80 is now 16 years old.

The winning combination in 1942 was Grape Vine (8) and Vera M (3).

Top payoff on a $2 win ticket is $161.80 on Ladys Favor in 1937.

Jockey Albert Adams, who established a national record of nine consecutive winners at Marlboro, Sept. 10, 11 and 12, 1930, rode at Fairgo the same year and was runnerup to Joe O'Malley (11-6-3), the leading rider, with a 6-3-2 mark.

Pirates' Murtaugh Is A Cinch For Manager Of Year Honors

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

One thing certain about the 1958 baseball season is the position of Daniel Edward Murtaugh of the Pittsburgh Pirates. There should be no doubt about him being named manager of the year when the ballots are tabulated later this fall.

The 41-year-old former second baseman, who at best during his playing days was nothing more than a fill-in, took a seventh place Pittsburgh team and made it a pennant contender.

It was a wise choice that General Manager Joe L. Brown made on Aug. 3, 1957, when he decided to replace Bobby Bragan with Murtaugh, a coach for two years. Brown previously had been general manager of the Pirates' New Orleans farm team and he liked the way Murtaugh managed in the Southern Assn.

During the last half of the 1958 season the Pirates played baseball just as well as the Milwaukee Braves. True, the season runs 154 games but if you look back to the halfway (77 games) mark you will find that Milwaukee had 42 victories and was in the lead. The Pirates had 36 triumphs and were in seventh place, only two games ahead of tthe Los Angeles Dodgers. In head-on clashes with the Braves, the Pirates refused to become awed by the world champions. They split their 22 meetings.

The Pirates jelled during the season and Murtaugh made only one big change in the team. When it was evident that Ted Kluszewski couldn't carry the big bat in the cleanup spot, Murtaugh inserted Dick Stuart, a minor league home run king who had failed to make it under Bragan. Stuart strikes out a lot but he did drive in 60 runs in his first 45 games under Murtaugh.

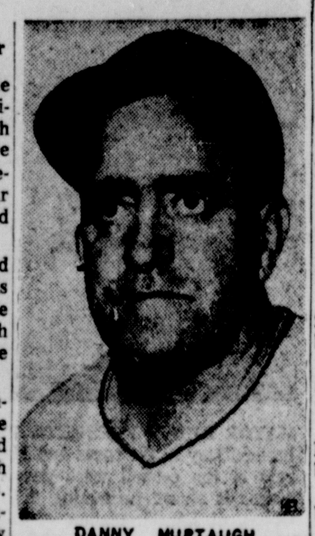
Murtaugh's big gamble, however, was in his pitching staff. He came out on the short end of a deal which sent Bob Purkey to Cincinnati for Don Gross. But Danny was impressed with rookies George Witt, Curt Raydon and Ron Blackburn. He had other rookie pitchers at Fort Myers, Fla., but by a process of elimination, he came up with what he thought was the best.

Witt and Raydon have been the bright spots. Witt, 25, had an 18-7 record with Hollywood in the Pacific Coast League last season. He was optioned to Columbus Ohio, in May but Murtaugh brought him back in June and he won eight of 10 decisions to lead the Pirate pitchers in the earned run rankings.

Raydon hadn't been above .500 since 1955 but now he looks like another case of a pitcher beginning to mature in the majors at 25.

And Murtaugh is just another example that a big leaguer need not be a .300 hitter to make the grade as a manager. In 707 games as a National League player with Philadelphia, Boston and Pittsburgh he hit .254.

He certainly made it big in his first full season as a major league manager.



DANNY MURTAUGH

Mantle Poles 42nd Home Run As Yanks Win

Ted Williams Gains As Bosox Lose, 7-5

BOSTON (AP) — Ted Williams edged within four points of teammate Pete Runnels in the American League batting race Wednesday but New York defeated Boston 7-5 behind Mickey Mantle's 42nd home run.

Runnels, apparently being shut out for the day, singled to left his last time up off winner Duke Maas and lost only one point from his pacesetting A.L. average. The Sox infielder now has a .324 mark.

But Ted beat out a pushed bunt toward third and stepped up to bang a double to left in three trips to move his average up to .320 from .317. He also drew a walk.

Frank Malzone drove in four Boston runs on a pair of homers.

Mantle increased his league - leading homer production with a line drive belt good for two runs in the fourth inning.

Hank Bauer hit his 12th homer, doubled and scored three times.

The other three Yankee tallies came on singles by Norm Siebern and Gil McDougald in the first inning.

AN 18-1 SHOT WINS BY NOSE—From Tim Sinn's penthouse atop the grandstand at Fairgo comes a shot of the closest finish in the first 65 races at the current meeting. It shows Scenery Tower (No. 1) on the outside winning by the margin of a whisker over Queen Sophia (No. 7) on the inside in the first race on Cumberland Day. The mirrored finish in the background actually shows how close it was. Scenery Tower, 2-year-old filly, broke her maiden the first time out and paid the highest price of the afternoon—$38.80 for $2.

Mantle Poles 42nd Home Run As Yanks Win

Ted Williams Gains As Bosox Lose, 7-5

BOSTON (AP) — Ted Williams edged within four points of teammate Pete Runnels in the American League batting race Wednesday but New York defeated Boston 7-5 behind Mickey Mantle's 42nd home run.

Runnels, apparently being shut out for the day, singled to left his last time up off winner Duke Maas and lost only one point from his pacesetting A.L. average. The Sox infielder now has a .324 mark.

But Ted beat out a pushed bunt toward third and stepped up to bang a double to left in three trips to move his average up to .320 from .317. He also drew a walk.

Frank Malzone drove in four Boston runs on a pair of homers.

Mantle increased his league - leading homer production with a line drive belt good for two runs in the fourth inning.

Hank Bauer hit his 12th homer, doubled and scored three times.

The other three Yankee tallies came on singles by Norm Siebern and Gil McDougald in the first inning.

AN 18-1 SHOT WINS BY NOSE—From Tim Sinn's penthouse atop the grandstand at Fairgo comes a shot of the closest finish in the first 65 races at the current meeting. It shows Scenery Tower (No. 1) on the outside winning by the margin of a whisker over Queen Sophia (No. 7) on the inside in the first race on Cumberland Day. The mirrored finish in the background actually shows how close it was. Scenery Tower, 2-year-old filly, broke her maiden the first time out and paid the highest price of the afternoon—$38.80 for $2.

Dr. Church Completes Educational Tour Of Russia

KEYSER — President E. E. Church of Potomac State College will return to the campus the week of October 6, following a seven-week absence which included a five-week tour of Russia in the company of some 60 carefully selected educators who are making a study of the Soviet educational system in a program sponsored by the Comparative Education Society.

Dr. Church left New York Sunday, August 17, via Scandinavian Airlines, stopping briefly at Copenhagen before arriving in Moscow, Monday evening.

Pedagogical Sciences; and many others.

Communications from Dr. Church reveal that the experience has been a most rewarding one

The group was permitted to visit educational and cultural facilities in four cities of Russia; namely, Moscow, Kiev, Leningrad, and Tashkent, the last a city in the interior which few tourists have been permitted to visit.

In addition to visiting schools at every educational level from institutions of higher education down through nursery types, the delegates were to see the Kremlin, libraries, housing projects, churches and art galleries.

Plans called for round table discussions with Soviet educators, including Ministers of Education, Culture and Higher Education; the president of the Academy of and that the group has been given every possible consideration and courtesy. He reports that they have had "hours upon hours of conferences, consultations, and question and answer sessions," and that Russian educators have shown a "genuine desire to assist us in accomplishing our mission to gain insight into and an understanding of the Russian schools."

Dr. Church says that they have had an opportunity to converse with numbers of students who have shown great interest in American colleges and in American young people.

The language barrier, he writes, has its difficulties, but a number of the group have a fair command of the language and also an interpreter has accompanied them.

The tour of Russia ended last Thursday, when a summary conference took place at the U.S. Embassy in Moscow with Dr. William W. Brinkman of the School of Education of New York University and Dr. William H. E. Johnson of the University of Pittsburgh as co-ordinators.

At the close of the Russian tour, Dr. Church left to visit some of the other countries of Europe and the British Isles, planning to leave by plane Friday, with arrival in New York City set for Saturday.

Members of the group made the trip at their own expense, and Dr. Church had full approval of the Board of Governors of West Virginia University.

Russian educators are expected to make a return visit to the United States later this year, for the purpose of seeing some educational institutions in this country.

Dr. Church Completes Educational Tour Of Russia

KEYSER — President E. E. Church of Potomac State College will return to the campus the week of October 6, following a seven-week absence which included a five-week tour of Russia in the company of some 60 carefully selected educators who are making a study of the Soviet educational system in a program sponsored by the Comparative Education Society.

Dr. Church left New York Sunday, August 17, via Scandinavian Airlines, stopping briefly at Copenhagen before arriving in Moscow, Monday evening.

Pedagogical Sciences; and many others.

Communications from Dr. Church reveal that the experience has been a most rewarding one

The group was permitted to visit educational and cultural facilities in four cities of Russia; namely, Moscow, Kiev, Leningrad, and Tashkent, the last a city in the interior which few tourists have been permitted to visit.

In addition to visiting schools at every educational level from institutions of higher education down through nursery types, the delegates were to see the Kremlin, libraries, housing projects, churches and art galleries.

Plans called for round table discussions with Soviet educators, including Ministers of Education, Culture and Higher Education; the president of the Academy of and that the group has been given every possible consideration and courtesy. He reports that they have had "hours upon hours of conferences, consultations, and question and answer sessions," and that Russian educators have shown a "genuine desire to assist us in accomplishing our mission to gain insight into and an understanding of the Russian schools."

Dr. Church says that they have had an opportunity to converse with numbers of students who have shown great interest in American colleges and in American young people.

The language barrier, he writes, has its difficulties, but a number of the group have a fair command of the language and also an interpreter has accompanied them.

The tour of Russia ended last Thursday, when a summary conference took place at the U.S. Embassy in Moscow with Dr. William W. Brinkman of the School of Education of New York University and Dr. William H. E. Johnson of the University of Pittsburgh as co-ordinators.

At the close of the Russian tour, Dr. Church left to visit some of the other countries of Europe and the British Isles, planning to leave by plane Friday, with arrival in New York City set for Saturday.

Members of the group made the trip at their own expense, and Dr. Church had full approval of the Board of Governors of West Virginia University.

Russian educators are expected to make a return visit to the United States later this year, for the purpose of seeing some educational institutions in this country.

W. Va. Needs Another $15,000,000 A Year To Finance Schools

B. BILL BARRETT
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The 1959 Legislature will be asked to pump $15,000,000 more a year into West Virginias public school program beginning next July 1, it was learned Wednesday.

The amount was agreed on this week at a two-day meeting of representatives of the West Virginia Education Assn. and the State Department of Education.

Officials of neither group would comment on the meeting.

However, it was learned the Legislaure would be asked to add $7,500,000 more to the regular state aid program, with a similar amount going into an "incentive" program for distribution to counties which do the best job of helping themselves improve schools.

Details of the program are yet to be worked out, but the WVEA and state department will send out representatives starting next week to discuss the basic ideas of the program with county superintendents.

Change Aid Formula

In addition to the financial request, the two groups — which announced during the summer they would work together on an education package for presentation to the Legislature — probably will seek some changes in the state aid formula.

Several suggestions have been presened to top officials of both and from them, likely will be elected one or two proposals for presentation to the Legislature.

The two-day meeting climaxed several months of committe-type work on both sides. The recommendations were sifted by high-level representatives of both groups and a program was tentatively adopted.

Now both parties will discuss the plan with school leaders in the various counties to get their reaction. Afterwards the final program will be developed.

A source close to the two groups expressed confidence there would be no "break" this time between the two, such as was evident last winter when each presented a program to the Legislature. Neither was adopted.

'Learned Lesson'

"I think both sides learned a lesson and will profit by it," the source said.

Education Department through State School Supt. R. Virgil Rohrbough, asked the 1958 Legislature for $15,000,000 for what he termed an "incentive" program.

The WVEA had a similar amount in mind, but wanted changes in the formula for state and distribution. The WVEA also switched in the middle of the session to back a bill which provided only a pay increase for teachers. The measure passed the House but failed to get by the Senate.

It was not learned whether the two groups would suggest to the Legislature, or Gov. Cecil H. Underwood, now to raise the $15,000,000. Underwood, in his opening message to the 1958 Legislature, suggested increased school funds through enactment of a state income tax.

The measure was killed in the finance committees of both chambers.

Enrollment At Beall Shows Drop Of 12

922 Students Attending Classes

FROSTBURG — Dr. Wayne Hill, principal of Beall High School, has announced that the final enrollment for the 1958-59 school year has been figured at 922 students, 12 students less than last year when the enrollment reached 934.

Registered in the eighth grade are 184, ninth grade 205, tenth grade 193, eleventh grade 172 and twelfth grade 168.

Among the opening activities was a fire drill held this week when the entire student body and faculty were evacuated from the building in two minutes and twenty seconds, a very good figure said Dr. Hill. Fire drills are under the supervision of Delbert Kelly who also acts as advisor to the student fire marshalls whose duties during a drill are to close all doors and windows, check all lavatories and rooms to see that no stragglers are left in building and report when their particular section has been completely cleared. Fire marshalls who assisted in this weeks drill are James Folk, Eugene Zumpano, Leonard Howsare, Blaine Griffith, Joe McGowan, Paul Petenbrink, Roy Ritchie, Nathaniel Wright, John Schultheis and James Rephann.

Dr. Hill also pointed out that a course in second year child study was held Tuesday evening. Meetings will be held regularly on the second and fourth Tuesday of each month with the leader being Dr. Hill. Members working with him are Joseph Hoopengardner, Raymond Pomeroy, Roy DeVore, Mrs. Lucille Cinquerani and Miss Nancy Baker.

The annual pictures of the seniors have been taken and proofs delivered. Identification and file pictures of the entire student body have also been taken.

Mrs. William Vogtman was at the school Wednesday afternoon to register parents interested in "parent-child study" course.

Today the County Council PTA will sponsor a play produced by the Strawbridge Productions to be presented in Beall High auditorium for all elementary schools of the Frostburg area. Assisting in seating the visiting pupils will be members of the Beall High Ushers Club. The stage crew will assist backstage.

School will be dismissed next Monday at 12:30 p. m. said Dr. Hill. The faculty will meet in the afternoon to discuss and familiarize themselves with the new cumulative record system adopted by the state board of education last year. Regular session will be held Tuesday and the balance of the week.

W. Va. Needs Another $15,000,000 A Year To Finance Schools

B. BILL BARRETT
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The 1959 Legislature will be asked to pump $15,000,000 more a year into West Virginias public school program beginning next July 1, it was learned Wednesday.

The amount was agreed on this week at a two-day meeting of representatives of the West Virginia Education Assn. and the State Department of Education.

Officials of neither group would comment on the meeting.

However, it was learned the Legislaure would be asked to add $7,500,000 more to the regular state aid program, with a similar amount going into an "incentive" program for distribution to counties which do the best job of helping themselves improve schools.

Details of the program are yet to be worked out, but the WVEA and state department will send out representatives starting next week to discuss the basic ideas of the program with county superintendents.

Change Aid Formula

In addition to the financial request, the two groups — which announced during the summer they would work together on an education package for presentation to the Legislature — probably will seek some changes in the state aid formula.

Several suggestions have been presened to top officials of both and from them, likely will be elected one or two proposals for presentation to the Legislature.

The two-day meeting climaxed several months of committe-type work on both sides. The recommendations were sifted by high-level representatives of both groups and a program was tentatively adopted.

Now both parties will discuss the plan with school leaders in the various counties to get their reaction. Afterwards the final program will be developed.

A source close to the two groups expressed confidence there would be no "break" this time between the two, such as was evident last winter when each presented a program to the Legislature. Neither was adopted.

'Learned Lesson'

"I think both sides learned a lesson and will profit by it," the source said.

Education Department through State School Supt. R. Virgil Rohrbough, asked the 1958 Legislature for $15,000,000 for what he termed an "incentive" program.

The WVEA had a similar amount in mind, but wanted changes in the formula for state and distribution. The WVEA also switched in the middle of the session to back a bill which provided only a pay increase for teachers. The measure passed the House but failed to get by the Senate.

It was not learned whether the two groups would suggest to the Legislature, or Gov. Cecil H. Underwood, now to raise the $15,000,000. Underwood, in his opening message to the 1958 Legislature, suggested increased school funds through enactment of a state income tax.

The measure was killed in the finance committees of both chambers.

Scheduled to participate are St. Peter's Parochial and High Schools, Bruce High School and Westernport Elementary School.

There will be a first, second and third prize in each school from the first to sixth grades, inclusive, and seventh to the twelfth grades. The poster will show how to prevent fires.

Principals of each school will be contacted and asked to select the ten best entries, but the fire department would like all the posters turned over to them.

All churches in the Tri-Towns are asked by Chief Mayles to carry a notice of Fire Prevention Week in their bulletins.

Chief Mayles also stated that members of Potomac Fire Company are continuing the inspection of fire plugs in the town.

MAKING A PRIVATE SCHOOL—A former night club (upper), where many an older person has learned a lesson, is being turned into a school for children in Charlottesville, Va. Mothers are shown mopping out the joint, once called The Chimney. Looking at it is John L. Saunders, former high school teacher and charter member of the Charlottesville Education foundation. It's part of an anti-integration move.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — The platinum cast Stanley Kramer has assembled for "On the Beach" sounds like a producer's dream come true. He has now added Tony Perkins to the imposing list which boasts of such box office names as Gregory Peck, Ava Gardner and Fred Astaire. Tony plays the young Australian naval officer also doomed to die.

Neville Shute's "On the Beach", a terrifying novel, shows the end of mankind after the atomic bombing of every country. Stanley says he hopes to show what could actually happen if atomic bombs become a part of world-wide warfare.

Now that Kathryn Grayson has come out of her shell she has been bombarded with offers. The one that interests her the most is the musical version of "Gone With the Wind" which is being prepared for Broadway production.

She said her representatives had talked with the David Selznick representatives and that Dimitri Tiomkin had also talked to her about the songs.

She came home from Montreal with a bad virus and has been sick ever since she returned from her night club engagements. She's very excited about playing Scarlet O'Hara and she really has the voice for what is planned as an operetta.

Frank Sinatra will acompany Edie and Bill Goetz when she goes to London for the premiere of "Me and the Colonel" and he'll be presented to the Queen whom he met when she was Princess Elizabeth. He has agreed to represent Danny Kaye who will be deep in preparation for his picture "Bamboo Kid" on October 24, the day they leave.

This must be a real disappointment to Danny who was looking forward to the premiere of his picture, although it's nothing new for him to meet the queen and the royal family. He's a great favorite with all of them.

I didn't need to be told who was telephoning me when Billie Burke called — it was the same distinctive, fluttery voice. I was so glad to hear from her. She said that she has a TV show coming up, a series with letters and comments. Talbot Lewis is producing and John Link is directing it. They have a prospective client.

We reminisced about when Billie was married to the great Flo Ziegfeld and she says she still misses him. Her daughter, Patricia, has four children, the oldest is going to college and the youngest is seven. I remember when Patricia was born and the telegram I received from Billie and Flo.

The blonde hair of Anna Maria Alberghetti that attracted so much attention in Bob Hope's show is being discarded, temporarily at least. Anna Maria goes into "Wagon Train" with Ward Bond and Bob Horton immediately and since she plays a Spanish senorita, the blonde hair would hardly be in keeping. Personally, I like her better as a brunette so I am not sorry she is going back to being herself.

Anna Maria says the best dramatic chance she has ever had is in "Wagon Train" and she doesn't even mind not having a rest. She opens at the Moulin Rouge on Oct 9.

In "The Philadelphian," now being made at Warner's with Barbara Rush and Paul Newman, there was a problem in casting Paul's mother and father. His movie parents have to be played by actors who can go from the age range of twenty to fifty years. So, obviously, it was necessary to get young actors who could make up to look old.

Diane Brewster and Brian Keith who usually play young roles (Brian is only a little older than Paul in real life) have been signed. Jimmy McHugh, Jr., set the deal for Brian.

PTA Requests Safer Closing Of Schools

WESTERNPORT—A request of the Parent-Teacher Association of Westernport Elementary School to discharge children from classes at 3 p. m. daily instead of at 3:15 is being made so pupils can avoid heavy traffic on Main Street while the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company is changing shifts.

Action was taken at a recent PTA meeting and all members present signed a petition to be sent to Ralph Webster, superintendent of schools in Allegany County.

Mrs. Mildred Rollan, dial chief of the Clarksburg office of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, explained the new five-digit dial system which went into effect in the Tri-Towns area Sunday.

Mrs. Rollan was introduced by Elmer J. Shaver, manager of the Piedmont exchange of the phone firm. A film entitled "Dialing the Nation" was shown.

Mrs. Amanda Nichols, president of the group, announced the following committee chairmen: Mrs. Mary Dunnivan, hospitality; Mrs. Maxine Wilt, budget; Mrs. Peggy Shaw, budget; Mrs. Agnes Fortney, membership; Mrs. Louise Kiddy, publicity; Mrs. Gladys Pamepinto, health and welfare; Mrs. Anna Kent Stafford, publications; Mrs. Dorothy Biggs, program; Mrs. Violet Daddysman, homeroom mothers and Mrs. Alpha Pleasant, child study group.

Check Murder Threat

BERLIN (UPI)—West Berlin plainclothes police flew aboard all 26 Berlin flights of Pan American World Airlines Tuesday because of an anonymous letter warning that there would be a murder on one of the flights. Headquarters said there were no incidents.

HONORED — Susan Lee Horne, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Horne of Welch, will be among 36 princesses representing West Virginia in the court of Queen Silvia XXII at the Mountain State Forest Festival in Elkins, October 1-4. Secretary of the YWCA at Virginia Intermont College, she formerly attended Duke University.

Fire Prevention Week Set For October 5-11

WESTERNPORT — In observance of Fire Prevention Week October 5-11, inclusive, a poster contest will be held in the three local schools under sponsorship of Potomac Fire Company 2, according to Chief William Mayles.

Scheduled to participate are St. Peter's Parochial and High Schools, Bruce High School and Westernport Elementary School.

There will be a first, second and third prize in each school from the first to sixth grades, inclusive, and seventh to the twelfth grades. The poster will show how to prevent fires.

Principals of each school will be contacted and asked to select the ten best entries, but the fire department would like all the posters turned over to them.

All churches in the Tri-Towns are asked by Chief Mayles to carry a notice of Fire Prevention Week in their bulletins.

July 13 is a legal holiday in Tennessee — to celebrate the birthday of Confederate Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest.

MAKING A PRIVATE SCHOOL—A former night club (upper), where many an older person has learned a lesson, is being turned into a school for children in Charlottesville, Va. Mothers are shown mopping out the joint, once called The Chimney. Looking at it is John L. Saunders, former high school teacher and charter member of the Charlottesville Education foundation. It's part of an anti-integration move.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — The platinum cast Stanley Kramer has assembled for "On the Beach" sounds like a producer's dream come true. He has now added Tony Perkins to the imposing list which boasts of such box office names as Gregory Peck, Ava Gardner and Fred Astaire. Tony plays the young Australian naval officer also doomed to die.

Neville Shute's "On the Beach", a terrifying novel, shows the end of mankind after the atomic bombing of every country. Stanley says he hopes to show what could actually happen if atomic bombs become a part of world-wide warfare.

Now that Kathryn Grayson has come out of her shell she has been bombarded with offers. The one that interests her the most is the musical version of "Gone With the Wind" which is being prepared for Broadway production.

She said her representatives had talked with the David Selznick representatives and that Dimitri Tiomkin had also talked to her about the songs.

She came home from Montreal with a bad virus and has been sick ever since she returned from her night club engagements. She's very excited about playing Scarlet O'Hara and she really has the voice for what is planned as an operetta.

Frank Sinatra will acompany Edie and Bill Goetz when she goes to London for the premiere of "Me and the Colonel" and he'll be presented to the Queen whom he met when she was Princess Elizabeth. He has agreed to represent Danny Kaye who will be deep in preparation for his picture "Bamboo Kid" on October 24, the day they leave.

This must be a real disappointment to Danny who was looking forward to the premiere of his picture, although it's nothing new for him to meet the queen and the royal family. He's a great favorite with all of them.

I didn't need to be told who was telephoning me when Billie Burke called — it was the same distinctive, fluttery voice. I was so glad to hear from her. She said that she has a TV show coming up, a series with letters and comments. Talbot Lewis is producing and John Link is directing it. They have a prospective client.

We reminisced about when Billie was married to the great Flo Ziegfeld and she says she still misses him. Her daughter, Patricia, has four children, the oldest is going to college and the youngest is seven. I remember when Patricia was born and the telegram I received from Billie and Flo.

The blonde hair of Anna Maria Alberghetti that attracted so much attention in Bob Hope's show is being discarded, temporarily at least. Anna Maria goes into "Wagon Train" with Ward Bond and Bob Horton immediately and since she plays a Spanish senorita, the blonde hair would hardly be in keeping. Personally, I like her better as a brunette so I am not sorry she is going back to being herself.

Anna Maria says the best dramatic chance she has ever had is in "Wagon Train" and she doesn't even mind not having a rest. She opens at the Moulin Rouge on Oct 9.

In "The Philadelphian," now being made at Warner's with Barbara Rush and Paul Newman, there was a problem in casting Paul's mother and father. His movie parents have to be played by actors who can go from the age range of twenty to fifty years. So, obviously, it was necessary to get young actors who could make up to look old.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Albert H. Smith, who passed away 3 years ago today, Sept. 25, 1955.
Softly the stars are shining,
Upon a precious grave,
Beneath lies one we dearly loved,
But whom we could not save.
Friends may think we have forgotten,
When at times they see us smile,
Little do they know the heartache,
That our smiles hide all the while.
SADLY MISSED BY WIFE AND SON

In memory of my dear son who passed away Sept. 25, 1954.
Days of sadness are still with us,
Tears of silence often flow,
Memory keeps you ever near us,
Though you left us four years ago.
You are gone but not forgotten,
And our hearts ache for you still,
Forgotten perhaps by others,
But by us you never will.
Sadly missed by mother and step-dad,
MR. AND MRS. SAUL PARKS,
Davis, W. Va.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Albert H. Smith, who passed away 3 years ago today, Sept. 25, 1955.
Softly the stars are shining,
Upon a precious grave,
Beneath lies one we dearly loved,
But whom we could not save.
Friends may think we have forgotten,
When at times they see us smile,
Little do they know the heartache,
That our smiles hide all the while.
SADLY MISSED BY WIFE AND SON

In memory of my dear son who passed away Sept. 25, 1954.
Days of sadness are still with us,
Tears of silence often flow,
Memory keeps you ever near us,
Though you left us four years ago.
You are gone but not forgotten,
And our hearts ache for you still,
Forgotten perhaps by others,
But by us you never will.
Sadly missed by mother and step-dad,
MR. AND MRS. SAUL PARKS,
Davis, W. Va.

Why pay too much attention to little things? Aren't many of the small niceties of life more trouble than they're worth?

Secrets Of Charm
by John Robert Powers

Take Time To Be Charming

If genius is the infinite capacity for taking pains, there must be something to the importance of doing a little more, more carefully than is necessary. Certainly there's a vast difference between genius and the ordinary, and a corresponding difference between the rewards of the two.

Isn't this also true of charm—that your effect on your world depends very much on the care you take in dealing with those about you, in the way you present yourself, in the demonstrating of standards that are higher than those which merely get by?

Perhaps you wouldn't be seriously criticized if you didn't write a thank-you note when none is expected, but what a delightful impression you make if you do. Probably no one would notice if you didn't take the time to speak with the least popular person at the party, but how you stand out in the mind of that person if you do, and others notice your courtesy. No one need tell you how much satisfaction and admiration there is for perfect grooming in comparison to the merely passable kind.

It's natural for everyone to want to please others, and the desire to be charming means that your wish is strong and especially commendable. How far are you from your goal? It may be that the distance between where you are and where you want to be is very short — just a little more graciousness, a little more time out to be more considerate, understanding, attentive and attractive will get you there.

TOMORROW: Can You Lose Weight By Walking?

HOW MUCH SHOULD YOU WEIGH? A new, lightning calculator that tells you how to compute your own individual ideal weight. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, enclosing 10c (in coin) and a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ask for "How Much Should You Weigh?"

Tax Assessors Lose Important Map

An important tax map—important only to the Allegany County Assessing Department—was lost Tuesday in the Johnson Heights section between Maple Street and Oldtown Road.

The document is 14 inches by 18 inches and contains information being listed by county assessors.

The county assessors department will pick up the map if the finder calls the office in the Court House—PA 4-2949.

Driver Cleared In Truck Crash

Ted O. Cartmel, Elizabeth, Pa., who was driving the truck which crashed into the stone wall off North Mechanic Street, on September 13, had charges of reckless driving dismissed against him yesterday.

Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick said there was no evidence of reckless driving on the part of Cartmel. It was pointed out the vehicle was new and had been inspected a week prior to the accident.

Stocks Reach New High Despite Drop In Activity

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks ran up to new record high ground on good leadership Wednesday despite a sharp drop in activity, reflecting the Yom Kippur holiday.

A list of quality issues—American Telephone, Du Pont, Eastman Kodak, General Motors, U.S. Steel, International Paper, Texas Co., Standard Oil of California — highlighted the industrial group, lifting the average to a new all - time peak.

Rails joined in with gains ranging to a point or so to boost their average to the best level since Aug. 13, 1957. Utilities firmed and the 65 - stock general average touched its best since Aug. 10, 1956.

Chief soft spot was the aircraft group which reflected prospects of a cut-back in missile programs. In this group Martin Co. and United Aircraft lost over 2 points, General Dynamics more than a point.

American Telephone rose to 195½, its best price since 1946, and held most of the gain, closing 2¼ higher at 194⅞.

In steels gains ranged past 2 points in Inland, a point or more in Youngstown Sheet, Lukens, National. U. S. Steel was up nearly a point.

Motors were active and higher. Studebaker topped the list on volume and picked up ⅜ to 10. General Motors was in third place on the actives, rising 1⅛ as the company gave first hint its Chevrolet Division is readying tools and dies for an American-made small car. Ford was up over one. Avco Manufacturing, with a ¾ point gain to 9, completed the top three actives.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	2 no trump	Pass	3 hearts
Pass	3 no trump	Pass	Pass
Pass

Opening lead: Club 5.

Declarer combined a close examination of the spots with correct percentage principles to bring home his three no trump contract today.

Holding a balanced hand with protection in all suits and 23 high card points (an additional point is added for all the aces) South has a normal two no trump bid. North responded with three hearts to test out suit prospects. It will be noted that any response to a two no trump opening is forcing. South rebid three no trump and all hands passed.

West opened the club 5 and declarer observed that he must win four heart tricks to bring home the contract. If the hearts break 3-3 he can win all five tricks, but the odds are distinctly against such a division, and declarer was willing to give up one trick in order to increase his chances of winning four.

He therefore won the opening club lead in his own hand to preserve dummy's entry and cashed the ace of hearts. When nothing significant showed up he played the queen of hearts and overtook with the king.

If the suit breaks 3-3 he gives up but one trick in the suit and the insurance policy has cost him a mere 30 points. However, if the more probable 4-2 division is present and either the jack or nine drops on the first two rounds then declarer can drive out the remaining high card with the eight.

Actually the nine fell and the eight drove out the jack. Observe that an attempt to win all five heart tricks would have resulted in the loss of a game.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Grain futures prices advanced into firm ranges early Wednesday and closed in a strong trend at the close on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed up 1 to 2⅜ cents; corn (old) up 1⅛ to 1¼ cents; (new) up ⅞ to 1¼ cents; oats up ⅝ to 1 cent; rye up ½ to 1½ cents; soybeans up 2 to 2⅝ cents.

International news knotted the market into firm price tones. Giving added support to trade was an active commission and commercial house activity.

Wheat advanced under short covering and commission house buying. Offers on about 1,500,000 bushels were reported going to Germany.

Corn contract firmness mirrored wheat. Light receipts again today also bolstered prices. Export acceptance bids were reported on 475,000 bushels.

There was increased liquidation by longs in oats. Northwest brokers, however, bought the December delivery.

Soybeans shot higher in response to Far East developments and only a gesture of hedging pressure. Oil and meal markets advanced. Most reports say farmers are storing much of their corn crop.

Outside markets show grain prices strong. The range:

A Hampshire County man, picked up for questioning in connection with a breaking and entering, may be returned to Massachusetts to face three forgery charges.

State Police at Romney said the man is Melvin Roy Beatty, 24. During questioning, it was found he was wanted in Framingham, Mass., on three counts of forgery.

Police said he is a nephew of Roy Haines, Romney, who was indicted by the Hampshire County Grand Jury on a charge of breaking and entering Tiny's Bargain Store located on Route 50 east of Romney.

Framingham authorities will go to Romney to pick up Beatty if he waives extradition.

Stocks Reach New High Despite Drop In Activity

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks ran up to new record high ground on good leadership Wednesday despite a sharp drop in activity, reflecting the Yom Kippur holiday.

A list of quality issues—American Telephone, Du Pont, Eastman Kodak, General Motors, U.S. Steel, International Paper, Texas Co., Standard Oil of California — highlighted the industrial group, lifting the average to a new all - time peak.

Rails joined in with gains ranging to a point or so to boost their average to the best level since Aug. 13, 1957. Utilities firmed and the 65 - stock general average touched its best since Aug. 10, 1956.

Chief soft spot was the aircraft group which reflected prospects of a cut-back in missile programs. In this group Martin Co. and United Aircraft lost over 2 points, General Dynamics more than a point.

American Telephone rose to 195½, its best price since 1946, and held most of the gain, closing 2¼ higher at 194⅞.

In steels gains ranged past 2 points in Inland, a point or more in Youngstown Sheet, Lukens, National. U. S. Steel was up nearly a point.

Motors were active and higher. Studebaker topped the list on volume and picked up ⅜ to 10. General Motors was in third place on the actives, rising 1⅛ as the company gave first hint its Chevrolet Division is readying tools and dies for an American-made small car. Ford was up over one. Avco Manufacturing, with a ¾ point gain to 9, completed the top three actives.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	2 no trump	Pass	3 hearts
Pass	3 no trump	Pass	Pass
Pass

Opening lead: Club 5.

Declarer combined a close examination of the spots with correct percentage principles to bring home his three no trump contract today.

Holding a balanced hand with protection in all suits and 23 high card points (an additional point is added for all the aces) South has a normal two no trump bid. North responded with three hearts to test out suit prospects. It will be noted that any response to a two no trump opening is forcing. South rebid three no trump and all hands passed.

West opened the club 5 and declarer observed that he must win four heart tricks to bring home the contract. If the hearts break 3-3 he can win all five tricks, but the odds are distinctly against such a division, and declarer was willing to give up one trick in order to increase his chances of winning four.

He therefore won the opening club lead in his own hand to preserve dummy's entry and cashed the ace of hearts. When nothing significant showed up he played the queen of hearts and overtook with the king.

If the suit breaks 3-3 he gives up but one trick in the suit and the insurance policy has cost him a mere 30 points. However, if the more probable 4-2 division is present and either the jack or nine drops on the first two rounds then declarer can drive out the remaining high card with the eight.

Actually the nine fell and the eight drove out the jack. Observe that an attempt to win all five heart tricks would have resulted in the loss of a game.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Grain futures prices advanced into firm ranges early Wednesday and closed in a strong trend at the close on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed up 1 to 2⅜ cents; corn (old) up 1⅛ to 1¼ cents; (new) up ⅞ to 1¼ cents; oats up ⅝ to 1 cent; rye up ½ to 1½ cents; soybeans up 2 to 2⅝ cents.

International news knotted the market into firm price tones. Giving added support to trade was an active commission and commercial house activity.

Wheat advanced under short covering and commission house buying. Offers on about 1,500,000 bushels were reported going to Germany.

Corn contract firmness mirrored wheat. Light receipts again today also bolstered prices. Export acceptance bids were reported on 475,000 bushels.

There was increased liquidation by longs in oats. Northwest brokers, however, bought the December delivery.

Soybeans shot higher in response to Far East developments and only a gesture of hedging pressure. Oil and meal markets advanced. Most reports say farmers are storing much of their corn crop.

Outside markets show grain prices strong. The range:

A Hampshire County man, picked up for questioning in connection with a breaking and entering, may be returned to Massachusetts to face three forgery charges.

State Police at Romney said the man is Melvin Roy Beatty, 24. During questioning, it was found he was wanted in Framingham, Mass., on three counts of forgery.

Police said he is a nephew of Roy Haines, Romney, who was indicted by the Hampshire County Grand Jury on a charge of breaking and entering Tiny's Bargain Store located on Route 50 east of Romney.

Framingham authorities will go to Romney to pick up Beatty if he waives extradition.

Pollack Says Beall Wanted His Support

Senator Attacks D'Alesandro Taxes

By The Associated Press

Democratic political leader James H. (Jack) Pollack, charged Wednesday that Republican Sen. J. Glenn Beall tried to get the Pollack organization's backing in the current campaign.

Pollack made the statement in Baltimore while the U. S. Senate candidate he is backing — Democratic Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore — was hinting on the same subject to a Calvert County audience.

"When they can't get the Pollack organization's backing," D'Alesandro said, "they scream 'boss'." D'Alesandro said "that record has been played so long it's worn out and the needle is broken."

Beall charged Tuesday while touring St. Marys County, that D'Alesandro is dominated by Jack Pollack and that before anything can be done in Baltimore, it has to be "cleared with Jack."

Charges "Sour Grapes"

In answer Wednesday, Pollack said Beall's charges were "nothing but sour grapes."

He said Beall asked for his (Pollack's) backing some five or six weeks ago.

Pollack also accused the Republican senator of ducking campaign issues by attacking him, rather than answering D'Alesandro's charges against Beall.

Pollack added:

"When the mayor asked Mr. Beall why he voted for the natural gas interests and against the welfare of his Maryland constituents, the senator said, 'Beat Jack Pollack' . . .

"When the mayor asked him to explain his out-of-state contributions from the gas and oil interests, Mr. Beall answered, 'Beat Jack Pollack.'

"When the senator started to campaign against me and frantically tried to ignore and divert attention from his real opponent, he proved he was beaten," Pollack added.

While the Democratic candidates toured Calvert County prior to a three-day swing around the lower Eastern Shore, beginning Thursday, Beall and James P. S. Devereux, GOP candidate for governor, sought votes in Frederick County.

Both took the opportunity to blast D'Alesandro's sponsorship of manufacturers and advertising taxes in Baltimore.

"D'Alesandro Recession"

Beall said D'Alesandro was responsible for an "anti-industry tax" in Baltimore which lost the city $14,750,000 a year in employe payrolls and resulted in "the D'Alesandro recession."

"Immediately after the tax went into effect," Beall said, "twelve manufacturers cancelled expansion plans in Baltimore, 15 manufacturers moved and one other big business concern discontinued operations."

He said "this extremely oppressive tax, proposed and pushed through by the mayor, has meant the loss of 3,400 jobs . . ." and the cancellation of expansion plans "totaling $56,000,000 which would have employed an additional 2,200 workers."

Devereux, in a speech before the Frederick Rotary Club, also mentioned what he called the "punitive" and "capricious" manufacturers and ad taxes.

Both taxes have been repealed by the D'Alesandro administration.

Devereux Raps Tawes

"Harmony Hall's lifting of the ad tax to pave the way for this election campaign is hardly reassuring," Devereux added, because the man running as Harmony Hall's candidate for governor (Tawes) was comptroller of Maryland when Baltimore's mayor imposed that tax. And he (Tawes) said not a public word in protest."

"More and more the people are doing a second take on a comptroller who won't or can't discuss our state's financial policies," Devereux said. "More and more newspaper men ask why Millard Tawes won't answer questions — simple, honest questions of how he would propose to run our state if Harmony Hall should actually triumph."

"They know, of course, why Millard Tawes stands mute, can't answer questions. They realize his boss is Jack Pollack . . . But Pollack is too busy to answer questions," Devereux said. "He's busy running Harmony Hall for control of the Free State of Maryland, and Tawes, and the silent stands mute."

D'Alesandro Jabs Beall

Unable to hear the GOP attacks as far away from Frederick as Calvert County, Mayor D'Alesandro was busy jabbing a few needles himself — all of them into Beall.

He told a gathering in Huntingtown:

"In six years in the Senate, I am told, "Sen. Beall has spent only three minutes speaking on the floor. He is a champion do nothing."

Louis L. Goldstein, Democratic candidate for state comptroller, shepherded his running mates around his home county. In addition to D'Alesandro and Tawes, Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert, a candidate to succeed himself; Rep. Richard Lankford, also seeking re-election, and H. Gordon Truman, who is running for Goldstein's seat in the State Senate, made the tour.

Election Clerks Working To Bring Files Up To Date

The Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors will be busy for the next three weeks bringing election files and registration books up to date following the completion of new registrations in the county last Saturday.

Board officials yesterday estimated there were at least 500 new registrations received throughout the county. The official count of the total number of persons registered for the upcoming general elections will be made October 17.

Each new application will be typed up in full on two separate cards from a written application blank. Bray Gets Two Years For Assault

A Garrett County Circuit Court jury deliberated about 1½ hours yesterday before finding Gordon Wells Bray, 34, of Deer Park, guilty of assault against George Sanders, 52, on August 22.

Judge Neil C. Fraley then sentenced Bray to two years in the Maryland Penitentiary.

It was the second time in six months the Deer Park man was tried on an assault charge. He was tried and convicted in March and was sentenced then to a year in the House of Correction. After serving approximately four months of the sentence, Bray was paroled.

In yesterday's trial Mr. Sanders testified he and several other men had visited Thayer's Barn, a tavern at Deep Creek Lake. As they left the place, he said, Bray came up behind him, pushed one of the others out of the way, and struck him.

Several other witnesses also testified in the case before it went to the jury about 1:30 p.m.

In another case tried before the court Ronald Wilhelm was found guilty on a bastardy charge. The 24-year-old Avilton man was sentenced to two years in the Maryland House of Correction by Judge Fraley who suspended the sentence on condition Mr. Wilhelm pay $20 a month for the support of the baby girl and also to pay all hospital and medical costs for the mother and child.

Court attaches said Mrs. Mary Ellen Bray, mother of Gordon Bray, will be tried by the court today on a charge of forgery.

In other action on the criminal docket in Garrett County Court House Judge Fraley will sentence Willard Gibson, Crellin junk dealer who was found guilty Monday by a jury on a charge of receiving stolen goods.

Celanese-ICI Join To Make Polyester Fiber

Celanese Corporation of America and Imperial Chemical Industries, Ltd., largest manufacturing company in Great Britain, yesterday announced the formation of a jointly owned subsidiary to produce a polyester fiber in the United States.

Teron is the trademark of the new fiber which will be marketed by Celanese for the apparel and home furnishings industries.

The subsidiary company will manufacture Teron in a plant to be built on one of several sites upon which options have been secured. Construction of the first unit is expected to begin next year.

Teron, to be produced in both staple and filament forms, is expected to be used in wool and cotton blend fabrics, providing outstanding crease retention, wrinkle resistance and ease of care.

The polyester fiber was discovered in England in 1941. It has been sold by ICI under the "Terylene" trademark and by E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Company here under the trademark "Dacron."

The Celanese-ICI project is the first yet announced to make and market competitively in the United States a commercially established polyester fiber of the same chemical composition as Dacron (polyethylene terephthalate).

For Celanese, a pioneer in producing and marketing man-made fibers in this country since 1924, addition of a polyester fiber will further diversify a textile product line which includes Celanese acetate and rayon filament and staple yarn, Arnel triacetate staple and filament, Fortisan and Fortisan-36 (rayon) yarns, Celaperm solution-dyed acetate yarns, Celacloud and Celafil acetate batting fibers and Quilticel acetate batting.

In addition to textiles, Celanese makes and sells a variety of chemical and plastic products. It has 12,500 employes in its 13 plants and three research and development laboratories in the United States. Textiles are made at the parent Amcelle plant here and at Narrows, Va.; Rock Hill, S. C.; Rome, Ga., and Burlington, N. C.

Potomac River Flood Contract Is Nearly Done

Bridge Steel May Go Up Next Month

Another big portion of the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project will be ready to turn over to the city within two weeks.

Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer for the Corps of Engineers, said work on Section 2 of the Potomac River phase will be substantially completed by the end of this week.

He added that all work on the contract should be done by the end of next week.

The work still to be done includes the placing of some topsoil, seeding of several areas and some rip-rap work.

Section 2 was awarded to the E. J. Albrecht Company, Chicago, last year for some $1,288,000.

The project included the improvement of about one mile of the channel below the confluence of the river and Wills Creek and construction of levees along the stretch.

Remaining contracts include Sections 2 and 3 of the Wills Creek phase, slated for completion by the Albrecht firm before the end of the year, and Section 4, scheduled for completion at the same time by the George F. Hazelwood Company.

The latter contract, however, may be extended a bit as it was held up for some time while revised plans were being made for the foundation of the Western Maryland Railway bridge across Wills Creek.

The last concrete for the bridge foundations was poured last Friday and the placing of steel could begin as early as October 10.

Water Safety Program To Be Expanded

The Red Cross water safety committee will meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Red Cross headquarters, Fost Office Building, to review accomplishments during the summer and to make plans for next year.

According to Dr. John T. Gorman, chairman, and Eugene Mason, city recreation director who has worked with the committee, a record was set this year in the number of persons trained in swimming and lifesaving.

Mrs. George W. Legge, Red Cross director here, said 471 persons received certificates for completing the training program between June 30 and September 20 this year. For the period of June 30 to September 30 last year, there were 310 persons trained.

The greatest gain was made this year in beginners and intermediate classes. This summer, 249 completed the beginners course, compared to 194 a year ago, and this year 99 completed the intermediate course, compared to 51 last year.

Nine persons received swimmers certificates, compared to none last year. A total of 69 completed junior lifesaving this year, compared to none last year, while 45 received senior lifesaving certificates, compared to none completed last year.

The water safety committee now has sufficient instructors to expand the program to train more young people as well as adults to swim safely. It is also planned to train more instructors as they are needed, Dr. Gorman said.

Memorial Hospital attendants said last night that a second man was slightly injured in the fatal tractor accident which took the life of Raymond M. Slider, 31, of Town Creek Tuesday.

Herman Shuck, also of the Town Creek area, was riding on the tow bar behind the tractor which was pulling a hay baler. When the tractor plunged through the wooden bridge which collapsed beneath its wheels, Shuck was thrown clear. Slider was instantly killed when the hay baler pinned him in the tractor seat.

'Flower Chronicles' One Of New Books At Library

"Flower Chronicles," a book of interest to garden lovers, is now available at the Cumberland Free Public Library.

After years of research, Buckner Hollingsworth gives warm, fresh stories on "the role that flowers have played in the history of mankind both within and outside the garden."

Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian, said that an American Technical Society publication "Steel Square" is an interesting technical handbook. It contains concise information on the uses of precision instruments. Inexperienced workers can easily understand the book.

"One Thousand Metres Down" by Jean Cadoux is an account of the true adventures under the earth in 1956 of 11 young Frenchmen.

"Mamma's Boarding House" by John Fitzgerald is a story of small-town life in Utah at the turn of the century, a worthy successor to "Papa Married A Mormon."

"Land Without Justice" by Milovan Djilas, former Vice President of Yugoslavia, now in prison for alleged activities against the state, vividly gives his impressions of his native Montenegro and some reminiscences of his youth. This is an unusual document and recommended by many for general collection.

Chester Bowles, former Ambassador to India, has written a most illuminating analysis of what is happening in India. This distinguished and respected statesman presents a positive approach to a just and lasting peace, said Miss Walsh.

Very young readers will be delighted with "A Tiger in the Cherry Tree" by Glen Dines and "Hans and the Golden Flute" by Tom Hamil.

Sclerosis Fund Drive Brings Good Response

Volunteer workers, who are carrying on a door-to-door canvass of Cumberland and immediate area in the 1958 Multiple Sclerosis Hope Chest campaign, are getting "wonderful response" according to George E. Speis, general chairman.

He is a past commander of Henry Hart Post 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, which is sponsor of the drive in cooperation with the Maryland Department VFW and the national organization.

The goal this year, Mr. Speis said, is $5,000. The canvass has been extended to the Bowling Green area and Oldtown area as well as other outlying areas within about eight miles radius of Cumberland.

In charge of over 500 volunteers is Mrs. Edward Finan. Maryland's goal is $80,000, according to Mr. Speis, who said that 60 per cent of the amount collected will remain in the state to be used for the patient-aid program of the Maryland Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society.

The remainder will be contributed to the national organization to be used for research. Of this amount, part will be returned to the state to support local research projects.

Dr. van Strien said two cases where there were symptoms which could have been polio, are being followed up.

Both children are well now, he added.

Pollack Says Beall Wanted His Support

Senator Attacks D'Alesandro Taxes

By The Associated Press

Democratic political leader James H. (Jack) Pollack, charged Wednesday that Republican Sen. J. Glenn Beall tried to get the Pollack organization's backing in the current campaign.

Pollack made the statement in Baltimore while the U. S. Senate candidate he is backing — Democratic Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore — was hinting on the same subject to a Calvert County audience.

"When they can't get the Pollack organization's backing," D'Alesandro said, "they scream 'boss'." D'Alesandro said "that record has been played so long it's worn out and the needle is broken."

Beall charged Tuesday while touring St. Marys County, that D'Alesandro is dominated by Jack Pollack and that before anything can be done in Baltimore, it has to be "cleared with Jack."

Charges "Sour Grapes"

In answer Wednesday, Pollack said Beall's charges were "nothing but sour grapes."

He said Beall asked for his (Pollack's) backing some five or six weeks ago.

Pollack also accused the Republican senator of ducking campaign issues by attacking him, rather than answering D'Alesandro's charges against Beall.

Pollack added:

"When the mayor asked Mr. Beall why he voted for the natural gas interests and against the welfare of his Maryland constituents, the senator said, 'Beat Jack Pollack' . . .

"When the mayor asked him to explain his out-of-state contributions from the gas and oil interests, Mr. Beall answered, 'Beat Jack Pollack.'

"When the senator started to campaign against me and frantically tried to ignore and divert attention from his real opponent, he proved he was beaten," Pollack added.

While the Democratic candidates toured Calvert County prior to a three-day swing around the lower Eastern Shore, beginning Thursday, Beall and James P. S. Devereux, GOP candidate for governor, sought votes in Frederick County.

Both took the opportunity to blast D'Alesandro's sponsorship of manufacturers and advertising taxes in Baltimore.

"D'Alesandro Recession"

Beall said D'Alesandro was responsible for an "anti-industry tax" in Baltimore which lost the city $14,750,000 a year in employe payrolls and resulted in "the D'Alesandro recession."

"Immediately after the tax went into effect," Beall said, "twelve manufacturers cancelled expansion plans in Baltimore, 15 manufacturers moved and one other big business concern discontinued operations."

He said "this extremely oppressive tax, proposed and pushed through by the mayor, has meant the loss of 3,400 jobs . . ." and the cancellation of expansion plans "totaling $56,000,000 which would have employed an additional 2,200 workers."

Devereux, in a speech before the Frederick Rotary Club, also mentioned what he called the "punitive" and "capricious" manufacturers and ad taxes.

Both taxes have been repealed by the D'Alesandro administration.

Devereux Raps Tawes

"Harmony Hall's lifting of the ad tax to pave the way for this election campaign is hardly reassuring," Devereux added, because the man running as Harmony Hall's candidate for governor (Tawes) was comptroller of Maryland when Baltimore's mayor imposed that tax. D'Alesandro Jabs Beall

Unable to hear the GOP attacks as far away from Frederick as Calvert County, Mayor D'Alesandro was busy jabbing a few needles himself — all of them into Beall.

He told a gathering in Huntingtown:

"In six years in the Senate, I am told, "Sen. Beall has spent only three minutes speaking on the floor. He is a champion do nothing."

Louis L. Goldstein, Democratic candidate for state comptroller, shepherded his running mates around his home county. In addition to D'Alesandro and Tawes, Atty. Gen. C. Calvary Methodist Church in Ridgeley will hold its first annual homecoming and rally day services Sunday, Rev. Harold L. May, pastor, announced yesterday.

Rev. May said the homecoming day will begin with a rally day emphasis in Sunday school with all classes uniting for a program in the sanctuary.

A special feature of the rally day will be a "Youth On The March" program which will feature group singing by the primary and junior departments under the leadership of Mrs. James Perry.

The first grade class, directed by Mrs. P. L. Hostettler, will present "The Mezuzah Story." A sermonette and object lesson will be presented by Miss Kathleen High, chairman of the commission on education.

The morning worship service will feature several choir selections with Alan Emerick, tenor, from West Virginia University, as guest soloist.

Rev. May's sermon will be based on a Negro spiritual and the children's choir also will take part in the morning services.

The afternoon hymn festival will begin at 3 o'clock in the sanctuary. Guests at these services will be Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Culp of First Methodist Church in Cumberland. Rev. Culp also will deliver the afternoon sermon.

During the afternoon service the oldest members of the congregation will be presented with flowers.

The event Sunday is being held nearest the 59th anniversary of the founding of the Ridgeley church, Rev. May stated. It was founded October 1, 1899. Rev. May has been pastor at the church since June 1956.

Election Clerks Working To Bring Files Up To Date

The Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors will be busy for the next three weeks bringing election files and registration books up to date following the completion of new registrations in the county last Saturday.

Board officials yesterday estimated there were at least 500 new registrations received throughout the county. The official count of the total number of persons registered for the upcoming general elections will be made October 17.

Each new application will be typed up in full on two separate cards from a written application blank. One will be placed in the book for the corresponding district and precinct, and the second will be filed alphabetically in the master file at election headquarters. With the approximately 500 new applications this will mean about 1,000 new cards will be typed and filed.

In addition, there are at least 100 transfers to be processed, board officials said. These are changes of address, shifts from district or precinct, and changes of name. Each of these changes also will be filed in the book and the master file.

Two clerks are working on the new applications while a third is processing the transfers. The work is expected to be completed before October 17.

4 Questioned In Safe Theft At Snack Bar

Four suspects in the recent safe burglary at Mason's Snack Bar on Baltimore Pike have been returned here from Ohio, and were questioned yesterday in the state's attorney's office.

County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya said the group will be questioned again today and may be given a preliminary hearing today or tomorrow.

The suspects in the case were returned to Cumberland Tuesday evening from Newark, Ohio, where they were arrested last week during an apparent breaking and entering.

The four, Virginia Heavner, 16, and Florence Etta Edwards, 20, both of Glen Burnie; and Harry William Martin, 24, and Charles Howard Brown, 21, both of Baltimore, are being held in County Jail.

Three members of the group at first refused to waive extradition when local authorities contacted the Ohio police, but they agreed to return here voluntarily when the local officers reached Ohio Monday.

Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police at LaVale, also questioned them yesterday about the theft in which a safe and $200 in cash were taken from the snack bar.

Assisting Mr. Lilya in returning the group to Cumberland were Tfc. Jack Browning of the State Police and Deputy Sheriff Edgar Lewis.

Bray Gets Two Years For Assault

A Garrett County Circuit Court jury deliberated about 1½ hours yesterday before finding Gordon Wells Bray, 34, of Deer Park, guilty of assault against George Sanders, 52, on August 22.

Judge Neil C. Fraley then sentenced Bray to two years in the Maryland Penitentiary.

It was the second time in six months the Deer Park man was tried on an assault charge. He was tried and convicted in March and was sentenced then to a year in the House of Correction. After serving approximately four months of the sentence, Bray was paroled.

In yesterday's trial Mr. Sanders testified he and several other men had visited Thayer's Barn, a tavern at Deep Creek Lake. As they left the place, he said, Bray came up behind him, pushed one of the others out of the way, and struck him.

Several other witnesses also testified in the case before it went to the jury about 1:30 p.m.

In another case tried before the court Ronald Wilhelm was found guilty on a bastardy charge. The 24-year-old Avilton man was sentenced to two years in the Maryland House of Correction by Judge Fraley who suspended the sentence on condition Mr. Wilhelm pay $20 a month for the support of the baby girl and also to pay all hospital and medical costs for the mother and child.

Court attaches said Mrs. Mary Ellen Bray, mother of Gordon Bray, will be tried by the court today on a charge of forgery.

In other action on the criminal docket in Garrett County Court House Judge Fraley will sentence Willard Gibson, Crellin junk dealer who was found guilty Monday by a jury on a charge of receiving stolen goods.

Celanese-ICI Join To Make Polyester Fiber

Celanese Corporation of America and Imperial Chemical Industries, Ltd., largest manufacturing company in Great Britain, yesterday announced the formation of a jointly owned subsidiary to produce a polyester fiber in the United States.

Teron is the trademark of the new fiber which will be marketed by Celanese for the apparel and home furnishings industries.

The subsidiary company will manufacture Teron in a plant to be built on one of several sites upon which options have been secured. Construction of the first unit is expected to begin next year.

Teron, to be produced in both staple and filament forms, is expected to be used in wool and cotton blend fabrics, providing outstanding crease retention, wrinkle resistance and ease of care.

The polyester fiber was discovered in England in 1941. It has been sold by ICI under the "Terylene" trademark and by E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Company here under the trademark "Dacron."

The Celanese-ICI project is the first yet announced to make and market competitively in the United States a commercially established polyester fiber of the same chemical composition as Dacron (polyethylene terephthalate).

For Celanese, a pioneer in producing and marketing man-made fibers in this country since 1924, addition of a polyester fiber will further diversify a textile product line which includes Celanese acetate and rayon filament and staple yarn, Arnel triacetate staple and filament, Fortisan and Fortisan-36 (rayon) yarns, Celaperm solution-dyed acetate yarns, Celacloud and Celafil acetate batting fibers and Quilticel acetate batting.

In addition to textiles, Celanese makes and sells a variety of chemical and plastic products. It has 12,500 employes in its 13 plants and three research and development laboratories in the United States. Textiles are made at the parent Amcelle plant here and at Narrows, Va.; Rock Hill, S. C.; Rome, Ga., and Burlington, N. C.

Potomac River Flood Contract Is Nearly Done

Bridge Steel May Go Up Next Month

Another big portion of the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project will be ready to turn over to the city within two weeks.

Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer for the Corps of Engineers, said work on Section 2 of the Potomac River phase will be substantially completed by the end of this week.

He added that all work on the contract should be done by the end of next week.

The work still to be done includes the placing of some topsoil, seeding of several areas and some rip-rap work.

Section 2 was awarded to the E. J. Albrecht Company, Chicago, last year for some $1,288,000.

The project included the improvement of about one mile of the channel below the confluence of the river and Wills Creek and construction of levees along the stretch.

The contract also included the construction of the B & O-Western Maryland interchange bridge and the removal of the old Interchange bridge.

Remaining contracts include Sections 2 and 3 of the Wills Creek phase, slated for completion by the Albrecht firm before the end of the year, and Section 4, scheduled for completion at the same time by the George F. Hazelwood Company.

The latter contract, however, may be extended a bit as it was held up for some time while revised plans were being made for the foundation of the Western Maryland Railway bridge across Wills Creek.

The last concrete for the bridge foundations was poured last Friday and the placing of steel could begin as early as October 10.

Water Safety Program To Be Expanded

The Red Cross water safety committee will meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Red Cross headquarters, Fost Office Building, to review accomplishments during the summer and to make plans for next year.

According to Dr. John T. Gorman, chairman, and Eugene Mason, city recreation director who has worked with the committee, a record was set this year in the number of persons trained in swimming and lifesaving.

Mrs. George W. Legge, Red Cross director here, said 471 persons received certificates for completing the training program between June 30 and September 20 this year. For the period of June 30 to September 30 last year, there were 310 persons trained.

The greatest gain was made this year in beginners and intermediate classes. This summer, 249 completed the beginners course, compared to 194 a year ago, and this year 99 completed the intermediate course, compared to 51 last year.

Nine persons received swimmers certificates, compared to none last year. A total of 69 completed junior lifesaving this year, compared to none last year, while 45 received senior lifesaving certificates, compared to none completed last year.

The water safety committee now has sufficient instructors to expand the program to train more young people as well as adults to swim safely. It is also planned to train more instructors as they are needed, Dr. Gorman said.

Second Man Hurt In Fatal Wreck

Memorial Hospital attendants said last night that a second man was slightly injured in the fatal tractor accident which took the life of Raymond M. Slider, 31, of Town Creek Tuesday.

Herman Shuck, also of the Town Creek area, was riding on the tow bar behind the tractor which was pulling a hay baler. When the tractor plunged through the wooden bridge which collapsed beneath its wheels, Shuck was thrown clear. Slider was instantly killed when the hay baler pinned him in the tractor seat.

Shuck was treated Wednesday evening for abrasions of the left hand. He returned yesterday for X-rays but was not admitted.

'Flower Chronicles' One Of New Books At Library

"Flower Chronicles," a book of interest to garden lovers, is now available at the Cumberland Free Public Library.

After years of research, Buckner Hollingsworth gives warm, fresh stories on "the role that flowers have played in the history of mankind both within and outside the garden."

Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian, said that an American Technical Society publication "Steel Square" is an interesting technical handbook. It contains concise information on the uses of precision instruments. Inexperienced workers can easily understand the book.

"One Thousand Metres Down" by Jean Cadoux is an account of the true adventures under the earth in 1956 of 11 young Frenchmen.

"Mamma's Boarding House" by John Fitzgerald is a story of small-town life in Utah at the turn of the century, a worthy successor to "Papa Married A Mormon."

"Land Without Justice" by Milovan Djilas, former Vice President of Yugoslavia, now in prison for alleged activities against the state, vividly gives his impressions of his native Montenegro and some reminiscences of his youth. This is an unusual document and recommended by many for general collection.

Chester Bowles, former Ambassador to India, has written a most illuminating analysis of what is happening in India. This distinguished and respected statesman presents a positive approach to a just and lasting peace, said Miss Walsh.

Very young readers will be delighted with "A Tiger in the Cherry Tree" by Glen Dines and "Hans and the Golden Flute" by Tom Hamil.

Social Welfare Conference Is Planned Here

Day-Long Sessions Set Wednesday

The Maryland State Conference of Social Welfare for Region Two will be held here Wednesday at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

The purpose of the conference is to provide an opportunity for people, lay and professional, and public and private agencies and institutions to meet to discuss social welfare problems and services.

This regional meeting will use a fictitious case history to illustrate the complex problem families face in the community. The theme of the meeting is "The Family In Need and Trouble Is a Community Problem."

The all-day conference will begin with registration at 9:30 a. m., followed by the opening session at 10 o'clock.

Mrs. P. H. Priest, chairman of Region Two, will preside at the session and the invocation will be by Rev. J. Kemp Horn, chairman of the Hagerstown Council for Retarded Children. Greetings to the assembly will be made by Mrs. Henry E. Corner, president of Maryland State Conference of Social Welfare.

The presentation of the case study will begin at 10:15 with Fred Pritchett, directo of field services for the Maryland Tuberculosis Association, serving as moderator.

The program will be continued after a noon luncheon. The final summary and recommendations will be made by William E. Royer, chairman of the Regional Organization, Maryland State Conference of Social Welfare.

The officials of the conference hope that the free and informal discussion at the meeting will provide help in solving welfare problems in the community.

Reservations must be made by tomorrow with Miss Jean Reinhart at the office of the Allegany County Chapter of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association in the County Building on Union Street.

Miss Reinhart said anyone who is interested in attending the all-day meeting may contact her at the Union Street office.

Sclerosis Fund Drive Brings Good Response

Volunteer workers, who are carrying on a door-to-door canvass of Cumberland and immediate area in the 1958 Multiple Sclerosis Hope Chest campaign, are getting "wonderful response" according to George E. Speis, general chairman.

He is a past commander of Henry Hart Post 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, which is sponsor of the drive in cooperation with the Maryland Department VFW and the national organization.

The goal this year, Mr. Speis said, is $5,000. The canvass has been extended to the Bowling Green area and Oldtown area as well as other outlying areas within about eight miles radius of Cumberland.

In charge of over 500 volunteers is Mrs. Edward Finan. Maryland's goal is $80,000, according to Mr. Speis, who said that 60 per cent of the amount collected will remain in the state to be used for the patient-aid program of the Maryland Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society.

The remainder will be contributed to the national organization to be used for research. Of this amount, part will be returned to the state to support local research projects.

County Polio-Free As Fall Arrives

Allegany County has gone through the peak of the polio season without a confirmed case, according to Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer.

He said cases can and do occur throughout the year but that "the season of low incidence is with us."

Dr. van Strien said two cases where there were symptoms which could have been polio, are being followed up.

Both children are well now, he added.

Secrets Of Charm
by John Robert Powers

Take Time To Be Charming

If genius is the infinite capacity for taking pains, there must be something to the importance of doing a little more, more carefully than is necessary. Certainly there's a vast difference between genius and the ordinary, and a corresponding difference between the rewards of the two.

Isn't this also true of charm—that your effect on your world depends very much on the care you take in dealing with those about you, in the way you present yourself, in the demonstrating of standards that are higher than those which merely get by?

Perhaps you wouldn't be seriously criticized if you didn't write a thank-you note when none is expected, but what a delightful impression you make if you do. Probably no one would notice if you didn't take the time to speak with the least popular person at the party, but how you stand out in the mind of that person if you do, and others notice your courtesy. No one need tell you how much satisfaction and admiration there is for perfect grooming in comparison to the merely passable kind.

It's natural for everyone to want to please others, and the desire to be charming means that your wish is strong and especially commendable. How far are you from your goal? It may be that the distance between where you are and where you want to be is very short — just a little more graciousness, a little more time out to be more considerate, understanding, attentive and attractive will get you there.

TOMORROW: Can You Lose Weight By Walking?

HOW MUCH SHOULD YOU WEIGH? A new, lightning calculator that tells you how to compute your own individual ideal weight. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, enclosing 10c (in coin) and a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ask for "How Much Should You Weigh?"

Driver Cleared In Truck Crash

Ted O. Cartmel, Elizabeth, Pa., who was driving the truck which crashed into the stone wall off North Mechanic Street, on September 13, had charges of reckless driving dismissed against him yesterday.

Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick said there was no evidence of reckless driving on the part of Cartmel. It was pointed out the vehicle was new and had been inspected a week prior to the accident.

Cub Scout Pack 10 To Hold Meeting

Cub Scout Pack 10 will meet Friday at 7:30 p. m. at LaVale Methodist Church, and S. H. Harris Jr., institutional representative, said the meeting will be open to youths who wish to become members.

B. B. Lucas, cubmaster, said parents of youths who are registered and of prospective members may also attend. The pack is sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association of LaVale School, with Paul R. Morgan as committee chairman.

Tax Assessors Lose Important Map

An important tax map—important only to the Allegany County Assessing Department—was lost Tuesday in the Johnson Heights section between Maple Street and Oldtown Road.

The document is 14 inches by 18 inches and contains information being listed by county assessors.
